Last section of I-275 opened

By JIM BRADLEY
Enterprise Staff

A plethora of prominent local and county elected officials joined representatives from the State Highway Department and Wayne County Road Commission to formally dedicate the opening of the final leg of Interstate 275 Friday morning. Braving sub-freezing temperatures, approximately 150 persons gathered on the sparkling new concrete north-south freeway at I-94 as State Highway Commissioner Wes Vivian led the ribbon-cutting ceremonies.

Elected officials from the cities of Romulus, Belleville and Wayne and the townships of Van Buren, Sumpter and Huron, as well as many other people, were introduced during the ceremony. Included in the group gathered for the occasion were State Representatives Edward Mahalak (Romulus) and Thomas Brown (Westland) and County Commissioners Edgar Harris and Royce Smith.

Also on hand were Mayors James

Stewart, Romulus; Justin Emerson, Belleville and Paul Lada of Wayne besides other officials of surrounding cities and townships.

The imposing list of political figures read like a veritable who's who in western Wayne County. In addition, Mike Zolik, deputy managing director, represented the Wayne County Road Commission and Richard Novak spoke on behalf of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department.

Gerald J. McCarthy, deputy director of State Highway Department, was introduced by Vivian and brought a five-minute dedicatory message. Dressed in black topcoat and fedora, McCarthy told his shivering audience that the opening of I-275 was a milestone in Michigan.

"This opening of I-275 today is six months ahead of schedule," he began, "and completes this freeway in Michigan. It extends from Interstate 96 near Novi to Interstate 75 near Monroe and will carry traffic around populous southeastern Michigan to provide the fast growing region with a direct north-south freeway route.

"It is part of our nationwide interstate highway system and interchanges. Interstate 94 and the M-14 freeway, now under construction between Ann Arbor and Livonia," McCarthy said.

The state highway official praised the safety and beauty of the new highway and expressed the hope it would see many accident-free miles of enjoyment by motorists.

"In addition," he continued, "it includes a paved parallel path along its entire 38-mile length to accommodate bicyclists and foot traffic. Although we know this freeway will help motorists in southeastern Michigan, including better access to Detroit Metropolitan Airport, it means just as much to people who don't travel."

"Standing here on this cold day, it's hard to imagine that Florida sunshine and oranges are on the other end of this highway. But to prove it, we asked Jack McNamara of the Michigan Trucking Association to ship a case of oranges up from the sunny south. And the Michigan Apple Commission sent along a bushel of Michigan apples."

Then Miss Michigan Transpo, Gloria Crafton of Lansing who works for the Dept. of State Highways, passed out the oranges and apples to the assembled crowd.

Although Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas was unable to attend, a helicopter from his office circled overhead during the dedication ceremony.

After the outdoor festivities, nearly 100 guests of the Michigan Trucking Association enjoyed a buffet luncheon at the Airport Hilton on Merriman Road in Romulus.

State Rep. Edward Mahalak of Romulus was master of ceremonies after the meal and officials from every community were introduced as were representatives from every agency who had anything to do with the building of I-275.

Host city Romulus Mayor James Stewart welcomed officials from all the surrounding communities and told how important the new freeway would be in bringing industry and tax base to the city of Romulus.

During the course of his brief message, Stewart claimed there was no doubt that Romulus was the finest city in western Wayne County, with the most promising future of any community because of its location between two airports, two freeways and railroads.

His strong praise for his city drew mixed reaction, naturally, from those representing other communities.

Interstate 275 runs nearly 38 miles through three counties in southeastern Michigan. It covers 7.9 miles in Monroe County, 25.6 miles through Wayne County and four miles in Oakland County.

It was initially studied in early 1961 and programmed in August of that year. The engineering report was approved in June, 1964 and the first contract let in May, 1973. That first contract covered four miles of freeway from I-75 north to Lobo Road.

Cost of the sparkling new concrete ribbon, which winds its way through populous southeastern Michigan, was $158,621,000. $145,000,000 of that amount was for construction while $13,621,000 was for purchasing right-of-way.

There were 35 major contracts let, in the building of the freeway, and 92 bridges cross the new interstate highway. It contains 2,570,000 sq. feet of concrete pavement and 300 "lane miles" of 12-foot width.

While the vast majority of people were praising the new freeway, a few objected to the highway. A group named the "East Michigan Environmental Action Council" passed out leaflets at the dedication ceremony calling on the State Highway Commission to halt any further openings of highways.

The leaflet said, in part, "Specifically, the (Highway) Commission should cancel plans for M-275 and Northwestern Highway, and further should put a freeze on all new freeway construction until there is a coherent transportation policy for the state."

Referring to the highways, it said: "These plans must be subject to thorough public airing as to their social, economic and ecological effects."

However, shortly after new I-275 was dedicated and opened, the traffic began to stream down the new concrete in ever increasing numbers.

Officials dedicate road opening

Friday morning was a cold but festive occasion when local, county and state officials joined together in ribbon-cutting ceremonies dedicating the opening of I-275. State Highway Commissioner Wes Vivian was master of ceremonies for the event which was held on the sparkling new cement ribbon at the I-94 interchange just inside the city limits of Romulus. Helping cut the ribbon are (from left) Gerald McCarthy, deputy director of State Highway Department, who gave the dedicatory speech; County

Capital punishment

By SUE McDONALD
Eagle News Editor

At about 8:06 a.m. Rocky Mountain Time Jan. 17 Gary Gilmore died, the first person to be executed for a crime in the United States in almost 10 years.

Five rifle shots and his death wish—to die before a Utah firing squad—finally was fulfilled. The melodrama that surrounded his final months of life are over, a melodrama that has left a convicted murderer with the trappings of a national hero.

Gary Gilmore is dead. There are those people who decry Monday's execution as cruel and inhumane, as a form of legalized murder and as an antiquated judicial practice that has no place in modern society. Then there are those who favor capital punishment as a deterrent to crime, especially the crime of murder, and as the first step in solving an ever spiraling crime problem.

Cure-all or legalized murder, the bruhaha that has surrounded capital punishment—the execution of a criminal pursuant to a sentence of death imposed by a competent court—is not a new one. As early as the 1840s a movement was afoot in Michigan to abolish the death penalty, and in 1847 the State Legislature, in reaction to a Sandwich, Ont., hanging in which the victim was later found to have been innocent, did away with capital punishment. However, not before three people—a white man and two Indians—were executed, all for the crime of murder.

Less than 100 years later the Legislature re-instituted capital punishment in reaction to the activities of such notorious criminals as John Dillinger, but the action of the legislature was short-lived when a referendum vote of 352,594 to 269,538 put an end to capital punishment once again.

And in 1963 capital punishment surfaced once more when its prohibition was written into the state's new Constitution.

However, the state was not without executions during those years when the death penalty was banned, for in 1937 Anthony Chebatoris was hung by the neck until dead at the federal reformatory in Midland, executed under federal law for killing a bystander during an armed robbery of a bank in that central Michigan community.

There now is a move on to bring back the death penalty, spearheaded by a state representative, who says he is organizing a petition drive to put the issue up for a vote in response to requests from the state's voters. Rep. Kirby Holmes of Utica is hoping to collect between 300,000 and 400,000 signatures of registered voters to have the question of re-instituting capital punishment on the ballot in 1978.

And will it pass, if it does make it to the ballot? Is the changing mood on crime and punishment a reaction to the viciousness of the crimes committed and their frequency? If capital punishment returns, will it serve as a deterrent to criminals, make them think twice before "dropping the hammer" on an innocent store owner?

In the coming weeks we will look into the mood of residents in the Wayne-Westland Community and talk with law enforcement officials.

the cop on the street, judges and state legislators to find out their opinions on capital punishment. In the course of these interviews we will try to answer the questions posed and find out if a vote were held tomorrow, would capital punishment be re-instated.

NEXT WEEK: THE CITIZENS SPEAK OUT.

Water rate opponents successful in drive

Opponents of the recent 39 percent increase in Romulus water rates have collected enough valid signatures to suspend the new ordinance and send it back to city council for action.

City Clerk Leonard Folmar verified that the petitioning group, sponsored by the Romulus Democratic Club and led by ex-mayor Terry Troutt, had turned in more than the required 815 signatures.

Folmar said he would file a "Certification of Sufficiency" with city council Tuesday evening for action by that body. The council can rescind the rate increase or it can take no action at all. In the latter case, the rate increase would be suspended until the next general election when the public would vote on the issue.

"I feel the council will have a hearing on the petition," said Troutt, who was pleased with the success of the petition drive. "This is not a political thing, despite what some people say. We just want city council to look at the entire picture and make the best decision for all the people."

Troutt said the bitter cold weather made it difficult securing signatures on the petition drive.

"The weather was real bad and the people who worked hard going door to door deserve a real pat on the back," he said.

Two Romulus residents invited to inaugural

By JIM BRADLEY
Enterprise Staff

Two Van Buren Township residents have received invitations to tomorrow's inauguration of President-elect Jimmy Carter because they had the foresight to write him first.

Mrs. Lela M. Nelson, 2177 Rawsonville Rd. and 18-year-old Jerry Robbins, 8135 Belleville Rd., are the proud recipients of the engraved invitations, and both are fans of Mr. Carter.

Although both wrote Carter and received the honor in return, Mrs. Nelson and Jerry have many contrasting features.

First of all, young Robbins is a student at Eastern Michigan University in his first year after graduating from Belleville High School last June. He worked his way through high school as a salesman at Huggins formal wear in Ypsilanti and didn't have much free time for school activities.

The pre-law student hopes to become a corporation or civil lawyer. And he owes his inaugural invitation to the English Composition teacher who assigned him the task of writing to some public figure.

"I wrote to Mr. Carter, complimenting him on his debates," says Jerry, "and I received a thank-you letter shortly afterward."

Robbins said he heard nothing more from Carter until the first of the year when he received his engraved invitation to the inauguration and parade.

"I was really surprised and happy and my parents were very proud," he says. But his friends thought it was a gag.

"They thought it was all a joke at first until they found out differently," said Robbins, who never thought anything would come of it when he wrote Mr. Carter.

Jerry admits he wasn't all that interested in the Presidential race at the time. "I really didn't follow it that close, but I kinda preferred Carter over President Ford," he admits.

Young Robbins would've really liked to go see the inaugural but his job keeps him busy. He is employed by the Daelyte Cleaning Company, a janitorial-type service, and works at the Ford Plant on Sheldon Road in Plymouth.

On the other hand, while Jerry is just starting out in college, Mrs. Nelson is 66 years old and an avid Democrat. She's lived in Van Buren Township for 18 years, as long as Jerry's been alive, and she labels herself a liberal Democrat.

But she hedges just a little by admitting that some of her philosophical beliefs do not always coincide with the Democratic Party. "I like to be independent," she laughs, "and I've even helped a Republican or two along the way in local politics."

Mrs. Nelson received her invitation also as a result of first writing Jimmy Carter. "I'm Jimmy Carter all the way — although at first I wasn't sure. But the more I saw him, the more I liked him and thought he was man who touched the 'soil'."

Lela, who laughs often and speaks freely of her beliefs, was so engrossed by Mr. Carter that she sat down and wrote a song entitled: "Jimmy Carter — Our Man." After sending the song to Carter during the campaign, she received a nice reply and a picture of her hero. Her song is sung to the tune of "Barney Google." "He reminds me so much of John Kennedy," she beams, "and I think if he keeps his promises, he'll restore the faith in government that's been missing the past 10 years."

"I refer to the past 10 years as the age of 'closed-door' government. I believe young people and blacks are counting on Mr. Carter very much. It's the division among our people that makes me fearful, but I think our new President can turn things around."

The outspoken Mrs. Nelson backed Eugene McCarthy in 1968 and George McGovern in 1972, because, she says, "McGovern, I think, also had the common man in view." She was disappointed with McCarthy's role in the past presidential race though, adding: "He tried to be an independent voice, but I don't think he helped matters at all."

Lela also came up with a recipe for "Carter Pie." "When I go for someone, I go overboard," she freely admits. She would have liked to attend the inauguration but said the expected huge crowds changed her mind. Her husband, Sylvester was a meat-cutter for many years before working at the Ypsilanti State Hospital until his retirement last April.

Bus driver logs 25 years of safe driving

By JIM BRADLEY
Of The Enterprise-Roman Staff

Mrs. Olga Lyons is a very unusual lady. She has two loves in life, caring for children and driving a bus, both of which she does to near-perfection. In fact, she recently was honored by the Huron School District for completing 25 years of ticket-free bus driving in one school community.

A dinner was held at the Chateau Club in Flat Rock by School administration and Olga's fellow employees to honor her for a quarter of a century of error-free driving of students to school.

For that matter, Olga received her driver's license when she was just 16 years old and the 59-year-old school employee has yet to receive her first ticket in all her years of motoring.

Besides gifts from her friends, Olga was presented letters of congratulation from the Huron School District, Gov. William Milliken, and even one from President Gerald Ford's office.

Mrs. Lyons attributes her long years in pupil transportation to her interest in children.

"Although grooming and dress are somewhat different than in the past, children basically are the same," she said. "I've had the pleasure of knowing many of the children in a close personal way and on a first-name basis."

"It's almost as if they were part of my little flock," added Mrs. Lyons, whose quick smile and sympathetic nature are tempered by a firm hand to guide the youngsters.

She has been driving handicapped children part of the time over the past five years and exclusively for the past three years in Riverview, Taylor and Flat Rock, in addition to Huron Township.

When Alice I. Ferguson, a friend of Mrs. Lyons, informed the White House in Washington of the 25-year achievement, she received a prompt reply.

The letter from the President's office read: "On President Ford's behalf, I want to thank you for your letter advising him of the special tribute paid to Mrs. Olga Lyons."

"The President always is glad to hear about important events in the lives of his fellow Americans, but

"Please accept my congratulations for a job well done."

"I know the responsibility is very demanding and you must be a person of unusual ability to have the patience and understanding to meet the numerous situations that you are faced with daily."

"Please accept my appreciation on behalf of the people in Michigan for having provided a very valuable service for so many years."

Another highly treasured letter is one from Lee Goodney, assistant superintendent for the Huron schools. He wrote: "It isn't very belief in your kind of work that makes me feel that we here in Huron have one of the truly unsung heroes of the Pupil Transportation Department in the state of Michigan in our midst."

"I congratulate you on behalf of the Huron Board of Education, the Administrative staff, the community, and your fellow bus drivers."

As much as Mrs. Lyons treasures these commendations, it is the children themselves which bring her greatest joy.

"I really love these kids. They are who had a habit of taking off all his clothes while on the bus."

"When I'd glance into my rear-view mirror, I'd see him standing on a seat, completely unclothed. I'd stop the bus, put his clothes back on, and we'd proceed down the road."

"However, we got that straightened out after only a few times. I think he was just trying to get attention."

And that's what most of her friends credit with Mrs. Lyons' great success — giving her undivided "attention" to all those who have ridden her bus over the past quarter of a century.

Her husband doesn't see how she can show so much patience and understanding with hyperactive and mischievous kids.

"I don't know how she holds her temper," he said, shaking his head. "I don't think that I have the patience to do the job she's doing."

Others feel the same way about the lady who has lived in Huron Township for the past 50 years. Her three children have attended Huron schools from kindergarten through high school.

One daughter, Mrs. Nancy Kendrick, returned to the district upon earning her teaching degree and is teaching fifth grade at Riverside Elementary School.

OLGA LYONS

Another daughter, Mrs. Alice Kozumplik, presently is on leave of absence from the Wayne-Westland Community Schools and her son, George, attended Eastern Michigan University.

When she looks at the plaque given her for transporting students safely for 25 years, Mrs. Lyons grows a little sentimental.

"You know," she said, flashing a smile, "I think I'd drive these children for nothing, if I had to. They are that precious to me."

And Mrs. Lyons is considered "precious" by Huron school officials, her fellow employees, and especially by the parents of the students she has helped guide toward their destination for these many years.

'I've had the pleasure of knowing many of the children in a close personal way...'

unfortunately, the demands on his time do not allow him the pleasure of sending personal greetings on these occasions. However, he hopes you will convey his best wishes to Mrs. Lyons for every future happiness and satisfaction."

Gov. Milliken sent a personally signed letter which stated: "It has come to my attention that you are being honored for having served for 25 years in pupil transportation, 23 of which have been with the Huron School District in New Boston."

often that I have occasion to write a commendation to a school bus driver with 25 years driving time in one school district. In fact, it has never happened to me before — and may never happen again."

"It is, however, with great admiration that I acknowledge your fine driving record in the Huron School District. It is not only your driving record that is so impressive, but your overall dedication to your job, your patience with the youngsters you transport, and your just great — even the handicapped and special education students who can cause a whole lot of excitement sometimes," she said.

When asked to name her most memorable or humorous moments in 25 years of flawlessly navigating a bus over all kinds of roads, Mrs. Lyons had to pause and reflect.

"Oh, some of the things that happened, you couldn't print, how some of the youngsters acted up," she laughed. "But I guess the most memorable youngster I had was one

CAP drill team has march of winner

Regional drill champs

Here's the Great Lakes Region champs in drill team competition — none other than the Wayne-Romulus Constellation team of the Civil Air Patrol cadets. The group placed first in Michigan competition, then went on to become region champs for the 5-state area of Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky. Cadets collect regional title

A Romulus Civil Air Patrol (Cap) drill team recently competed in national drill competition after scoring first in contests in the State of Michigan and a 5-state Great Lakes Region.

The group of teens ranging in age from 13 to 18 are cadets in the Wayne-Romulus Constellation Cap drill team, and became regional champs from the entire area covering Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Kentucky.

Those regional contests, held in Ohio during the summer after the team won the Michigan championship in April, qualified the 18-person team to go on to national competition. There the group competed with some 168 other cadets from all over the United States.

To win such awards, the team must practice precision in standard drill routines, intermediate drills and a special routine of its own. In addition, the team members must stand up to Air Force inspection.

The teens are all members of Civil Air Patrol squadrons.

The Wayne-Romulus and Constellation squadrons joined to form a drill team that is composed of 18 members, plus two alternates. Two chaperones also accompanied the group to the national competition, held in Washington, D.C.

The group meets weekly in Romulus, where most of the members live. Other members are from Ypsilanti, Belleville, Taylor and from as far away as Grosse Ile. Youngsters can join the cadet program once they are in the seventh grade until 18 years of age. After that, they may choose to join the Air Force or other branch of the service, or become senior members.

The national competition brought the Romulus area youth up against some stiff competition, and some different categories of competition were introduced. In addition to drills and inspection, they competed in an academic bowl and physical fitness contest and spent the last evening of the 3-day stay at an awards banquet.

Although the team did not win the national competition, squadron leaders consider it a feather in their cap that the youngsters reached the level of Great Lakes Regional champs.

Lisa Lawson and Karen Hardy are from Ypsilanti, Kathy Hutcherson

from Grosse Ile and Joann Douglass from Taylor. Gary Udovich is from Belleville.

The drill commander, the leader of the team, is 17-year-old Andy Orgovan of Romulus.

Chaperones were Capt. Frank Kudla of Romulus, and Lt. Col. Martha Brazier of Taylor. The squadron commander is Joann Douglas of Taylor.

Seniors to get tax aid

Belleville Treasurer Jim White this week said the city will assist senior citizens with their Homestead Property Tax Credit forms.

"This is a service we are providing for the residents of Belleville," White said. "We urge every local senior citizen to take advantage of the dates we have scheduled and get help with their Homestead forms."

Senior citizens can receive help at City Hall from 1 to 4 p.m. next Wednesday, Feb. 9, Feb. 17, March 2, March 23, March 30 and April 13.

Assistance from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. will be available on Feb. 2, Feb. 23, March 17 and April 6.

The Homestead Property Tax Credit is for senior citizens 65 years of age or older, quadriplegics or paraplegics, service veterans and those who are blind.

"Citizens who did not apply for this tax credit in 1975 still can apply for it this year because they have two years to file their claims," White said. "Forms are available at Belleville City Hall, 6 Main St., and assistance is free."

White added that senior citizens should bring in their last tax bill with them, if possible, or if needed, the city has it on record. They also should bring the amount of their last pension or Social Security check and any other income they received during the last year. The Belleville City Hall telephone number is 697-9323.

Belleville to collect ideas

Belleville will hold its third public hearing at 8 p.m. Feb. 3 at the City Hall to discuss how to spend $63,000 in Community Development Block Grant funds.

Some 19 persons turned out for the last public hearing, after City Treasurer Jim White was the only one present at the first session. "Yes, you could say I felt a little like the "Lone Ranger," White chuckled. "But we had a lively discussion last week and three main suggestions came out of the meeting."

White said the most popular request was to spend part of the $63,000 federal money to acquire a senior citizen's center. Another suggestion was to remove barriers for the handicapped — making more curb-cuts for wheelchairs and other similar improvements.

The third idea was the institution of an inter-social program, but White said he wasn't sure whether federal regulations would permit use of the money for that function.

"Our next meeting is Feb. 3 and this is the opportunity for everyone to share their ideas with us," White added. "We want as much input as possible so we can benefit the largest number of citizens."

Health screening offered

Senior citizens living in Western Wayne County will have yet another opportunity to take advantage of a special health screening project conducted by the Wayne County Health Department and supported by a contract with the Detroit-Wayne County Area Agency on Aging.

Any person 60 years of age and over is eligible to participate in the screening program, slated for St. Paul's Lutheran Church, 19109 Craig, New Boston, Monday through Feb. 3.

A health team consisting of a physician, social worker and registered nurses will provide a wide range of screening services to include a health history, height and weight measurement, blood pressure, temperature, pulse, respiration, pap smear, glaucoma, hearing and vision testing. Minor laboratory tests also will be done.

The goal of the health project is to assist senior citizens in gaining access to necessary medical care. Persons interested should call the Health Department at 274-2800 or 729-2211, ext. 251, for an appointment.

Restaurant review:

By D.G. Fassett
The accent is on Greek food and relaxed dining, the place, Canton's Cyprus Gardens.

STEVE STYLIANOU

you are surrounded by good people, good food, and warm hospitality. The restaurant seating 96, provides an informal atmosphere for the enjoyment of your meal, either at tables or in booths. But wherever you sit, you will be comfortable and will enjoy excellent service.

Although the menu is complete from diet entr'ee to New York sirloin steak, it's the Greek dishes that grab your eye. Their exotic sounding names, filling your imagination with the sights, sounds, and aromas of distant lands. Such things as Stuffed grape leaves, Souvlaki, Pastitsio, Mousake, Shish Kebob and Lemon soup, leap at you from the menu, and choosing only one is an almost impossible task. Deciding I needed help, I asked Stylianou to suggest a dish to order. His choice, the dish 90 percent of his customers ordered, was lamb Shish Kebob with Grecian salad for me, and beef Shish Kebob and salad for the rest of the family.

The salad arrived quickly and was a thing of beauty. A large portion of cold crisp lettuce topped with beets, tomato wedges, olives, onions, green pepper and feta cheese, all basted with a special Grecian dressing. Without any trouble at all a person could have made a meal of just the salad, and oh that feta cheese.

The kids enjoyed the salad although the rich collection was an unusual treat for them.

The Shish Kebob followed the salad and was also something to behold. A more than generous portion of tenderloin tips, nestled in a huge mound of pilaf rice, covered with a special sauce. Green beans, tomatoes, onions and Syrian bread rounded out the fare.

The lamb and beef used to prepare the Shish Kebob, marinated for three days in wine, garlic, oregano, pepper and salt, was skewered with onion, green pepper and tomato partitions. The meat was absolutely delicious, and tender to a fault.

Not only was the meal absolutely delicious, but the amount of food served insured that no one could leave the table still hungry.

Following the main course, a delicate rice pudding was served for dessert. The large pyramid of rice was gently dusted with cinnamon, providing a very nice taste combination.

CONCLUSION:

If you are looking for a comfortable family restaurant with a complete menu of items, prepared with loving care, the Cyprus Gardens is the place for you.

Good service, comfortable surroundings, a pleasant waitress, and the best Shish Kebob I have ever tasted, earn the Cyprus Gardens OUR RATING OF AAA.

You had better get over there quick before everyone else discovers it.

'History' to visit Detroit

From butterfly wings to the world's largest faceted stone to chamber music, a little bit of the Smithsonian Institution will travel to Cranbrook Institute of Science and Detroit Institute of Arts in February.

Because the general public cannot always go to Washington, D.C., to see the national collections, the Smithsonian Institution is coming to the people.

Open to the public, in one of seven stops across the country, the Smithsonian is exhibiting two shows at Cranbrook Institute of Science: "Fit For A Queen: The National Gem Collection," including such gems as Marie Antoinette's diamond earrings, Feb. 14, 15 and 16; and "Art In Nature," a photographic exhibition of views not usually seen by the naked eye, Feb. 1 through 28.

Cranbrook Institute of Science, at 500 Lone Pine Road, will be open special hours for the gem show, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Feb. 14 through 16. The remainder of the month, the Institute of Science will be open during regular hours: 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays, 1 to 9 p.m. Saturdays and 1 to 5 p.m. Sundays.

Detroit Institute of Arts will host "Artists and Their Studios," a photographic exhibition organized by Archives of American Art, Feb. 9 through 27.

In 3 weekend concerts

Chilean pianist to perform with DSO

The world-renowned Chilean pianist Claudio Arrau will be the featured guest soloist at three concerts by the Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO) this weekend at 10:45 a.m. Friday, 8:30 p.m. Saturday and 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Ford Auditorium.

Theo Alcantara, a frequent guest conductor with the DSO, will be on the podium for the concerts, whose program will include the Overture (Suite) No. 3 of J.S. Bach, the Piano Concerto No. 4 of Beethoven, and the Symphonie "Mathis der Maler" of Paul Hindemith.

Alcantara is music director of the Grand Rapids Symphony, founder of the highly successful Grand Rapids Mozart Festival, and a frequent guest conductor of the DSO.

He began his career at seven as a choir boy in his native Spain. After study at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Madrid, where he took diplomas in piano and composition, he studied conducting at the Mozarteum in Salzburg. He was conductor with the Frankfurt Opera until 1966, when he won the silver medal of the Mitropoulos International Conducting Competition, and was director of Orchestras at the University of Michigan from 1968 to 1974. He most recently conducted the DSO in performances of "The Nutcracker" last month.

A native of Chile Arrau has been an acclaimed international concert artist since the late 1920s. A pupil in Berlin of Martin Krause, Arrau is thus a pianistic "great-great-grandchild" of Beethoven—through Czerny, Liszt, and Krause.

He first performed with the DSO in 1952 and has returned three times since, in 1954, 1965 and 1975. A veteran of countless world tours, he is also renowned as a recording artist, teacher, and editor; he is currently completing an edition of the Beethoven sonatas. The Berlin Philharmonic, in a tribute to his 65th birthday, called him "the heir to the throne of Busoni and Gieseking". He makes his home in New York and Vermont, although he retains Chilean citizenship.

Friday morning's concert, an NBD Coffee Concert, features complimentary pre-concert coffee in the Ford Auditorium social room beginning at 9:30 a.m. and fashion show of Furs by Robert at 10:15 a.m.

Tickets for all three concerts are available at the Ford Auditorium

Box Office. A limited number of tickets for students and senior citizens at $2 are available at the Box Office from 8 p.m. Saturday night.

Recorded information on all forthcoming DSO concerts is available 24 hours a day at 961-7017.

Detroit's cars are stars at annual auto exhibition

Cars are the stars, but they're sharing the spotlight with trucks for personal and family fun at this year's Detroit Auto Show, open now through Sunday at Cobo Hall.

No longer strictly workaday vehicles, the new generation of pickups, vans and 4-wheel-drive units on display during the 9-day industry showcase glisten with mirror-finish paints, chrome and bright work, and rival passenger cars in plush creature comforts, features and options.

Behind the emphasis on these new "adult toys," as Dodge calls them in its exhibit, is the steadily rising popularity of light and medium-duty trucks for daily transportation, travel and recreation.

Hot-selling pickups have moved from the farmyard to the front driveways of fashionable homes. The once prosaic delivery van also is being used as a personal vehicle. For some, it's a mobile ski hut or beach cabana. For others, it can be a forest cabin, a living room-on-wheels or one of many other variations adapted to modern lifestyles.

"Design And The Future" is the show theme, so not all the fanciful vehicles are in the truck exhibits. In addition to special show cars displayed by the manufacturers, a theme center provides a behind-the-scenes look at the creative process leading to the car of the 1980s. Artists' renderings and clay models are shown.

This year's show also provides more help to the person actively in the market for a new car or truck. Along with technical displays there's more product information and comparisons, and specially-trained salesmen.

Games, prizes, souvenirs and entertainment make this 61st edition fun for the entire family. There're magicians, performers and a "human mannequin" who'll give $2,000 to a favorite charity and a driveable, miniature Aspen car to the first showgoer who succeeds in a challenge to shatter her mechanical model composure.

A new car is auctioned off nightly through Saturday, and on the final day, there'll be a grand prize drawing for "losing ticket" holders in a special instant-winner Michigan Lottery Game, "The Automobile State".

A new media center offers visitors

a chance to meet area radio, TV and newspaper personalities.

Show hours are from 12 to 11 p.m. this weekend, and from 2 p.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays, except Friday when the doors remain open until 11 p.m.

Theater organist performs Sunday

An unusual entertainment opportunity awaits theater organ buffs on Sunday, when organ virtuoso Ken Saliba will perform at the console of the Henry Ford Museum theater organ.

His concert, titled "The Theater Organ Is (Anything It Wants to Be)" will be presented at 2 and 3:30 p.m. in the Henry Ford Museum Theater.

A native Detroit, Saliba has been playing organ since he was 10 and has performed professionally since age 16. He majored in organ performance at the University of Michigan where he studied under Dr. Robert Glasgow and today makes frequent concert appearances.

For his engagement at Henry Ford Museum, Saliba will trace his instrument's evolution from organ to theater organ by performing. A range of selections from Bach to Barry Manilow will demonstrate the variety of sounds and musical styles of which the theater organ is capable. Also included in the program will be an example of what the theater organ was primarily designed for — the accompaniment of silent films. Saliba

Flutist offer to recital

Flutist Susan Ivers Barna will appear in a solo performance at the Detroit Institute of Arts Recital Hall at 3 p.m. Sunday as part of the Kolego Concert Series.

Ms. Barna has lived in the Detroit area all her life. She presently is a member of the Pastiche Wind Quintet, the Windsor Symphony, and Orchestra Detroit, and has performed on the "Bach for a Buck" Christmas programs, "Bach" series.

In her recital, Ms. Barna will present works by Prokofiev, Telemann, Debussy and Bach. She also will perform the world premier of "Love Letters" a piece by Detroit-area composer Martin Scot Kosins. She will be accompanied by her husband, pianist Thomas Barna.

This recital is third on the Kolego Concert Series 1976-77 season. The series was established by local musicians to provide a stage for artists who would otherwise have very little chance to perform in a recital situation. It is supported in part by the Michigan Council for the Arts.

Tickets for the performance by Susan Ivers Barna are available at the Art Institute, or by calling 832-2730.

Taxpayers send Florida $9,352 gift

August 24, 1976, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) filed a request for three outboard, and two inboard motor boats.

The boats, specified by brand name on the general description order, were Seacraft SF-20, models built in Florida. The DNR order was given to Byrd Marine of Dearborn, since no other Michigan dealer could fill the order in the short time allotted.

For no explainable reason, the boats were rushed to Michigan for a mid-winter delivery deadline, and remain in storage here until the ice leaves our State's waters.

The total cost to the taxpayers of the State of Michigan for this episode came to, now get this, $6,118.41 each for the three outboards, and $11,678.91 each for the two inboards.

In addition, there was $1,200.00 delivery charge for shipping the boats to Michigan, for a total State outlay of $41,713.05.

One Michigan boat dealer, contacted, stated that his company could have filled the order for the three outboard motor boats for $3,983 each. Thus providing the State with a savings of 2,135.41 each, or $6,406.23 total. This same dealer could have supplied the two inboard motor boats for $10,205 each, providing the state a savings of $1,473 on each boat for a total savings of $2,946.

Had the DNR really cared about saving the State money, or even our local industry, the State of Michigan could have saved $9,352.23.

Had the DNR not specified a particular model boat, the Seacraft SF-20, any Michigan dealer could have provided boats exceeding the states specifications, at reduced cost.

The questions raised here are many. Is this just another example of bureaucratic mismanagement, or something worse.

At a time when Michigan's slumping economy could use a boost, the State chose to make these major purchases from another State, and not for any good reason that has been explained.

This seems to be just another case of the state telling us to do as they tell us, not as they do.

We think it is good policy for the State of Michigan to always attempt to buy from local sources, even if there is no substantial cost savings. No one should have to tell the State of Michigan, they should buy from local manufactures when the cost is substantially lower, or so it would seem.

The DNR has sent the State of Florida a $9,352 Christmas present which we have paid for. How long will it be before Michigan receives theirs in return, or has someone already gotten it.

We think you have a right to know the answer. We think the State of Michigan owes everyone of us an explanation for their actions. Write your local elected officials and ask for that explanation.

Ask the Governor

Milliken says no tax increase for next year

QUESTION: Governor Milliken, this is the time of year you usually issue your State of the State Message and list priorities for the next year. Before you even tell me your new plans, I want to know whether there will be a tax increase to pay for them?

GOVERNOR: I am very pleased to report that the budget I will submit for 1977-78 fulfills my commitment of nearly a year ago for program improvements and meets the objective of providing an adequate level of general fund programs within available resources. I will not be asking for a general income tax increase and will not support such a proposal.

In a few weeks, I will detail my plans for a comprehensive statewide transportation program. But any new funding sources to help pay for such a plan will be related to transportation users.

The new budget, which is also due soon, will represent the first good opportunity for program improvements in three years. But I remain convinced that any general tax increase would retard Michigan's economic recovery.

QUESTION: How does a senior citizen or a person with a low income find housing when moving into Michigan? I am moving into the state and have no idea how to go about locating senior citizen housing for my parents. Can you give me some direction?

GOVERNOR: The State of Michigan's Office of Services to the Aging does not compile a list of available senior citizen and low-income housing. However, some of the area Offices of Services to the Aging may have such a list or could direct you to the proper source for information. Often, the local unit of government, City Council or City Housing Authority has a list of senior citizen-low-income housing. These units of government do not, as rule, maintain a listing of private senior citizen housing. A local realtor could put you in contact with private senior citizen housing. Good luck and welcome to Michigan.

QUESTION: My husband and I are thinking of purchasing life insurance. There seem to be so many different types, companies and kinds, how can we be sure we will get a policy that meets our needs?

GOVERNOR: The Insurance Bureau, under the Department of Commerce, publishes a booklet entitled "Consumer Guide to Life Insurance in Michigan." It explains the difference between whole life and term insurance, participating and nonparticipating policies, double indemnity and waiver of premiums. The booklet offers guidelines on how much and what type of insurance you might need to fit your specific situation.

Once you have decided what kind of insurance you should buy and what amount you need, the booklet ranks the policies written by various companies. These rankings should help you determine which company to buy the policy from. I think this booklet will provide most of the information needed before choosing a life insurance company.

QUESTION: I want to take my family on a winter vacation in Michigan. Can you tell me about skiing and snowmobiling in Michigan?

GOVERNOR: The Michigan Travel Commission distributes, in cooperation with Michigan's four regional tourist associations, a Michigan Winter Sports Guide. It lists the various ski area, their facilities, locations, hours of operation and phone numbers. The map is arranged into the four regional areas of Michigan. The guide gives the address and phone number of the regional tourist association, which you can write for further information on lodging facilities and special events in a specific area.

On the other side of the map, snowmobile facilities are described with information concerning the length and type of trails available.

For a copy of the guide contact: Michigan Travel Commission, 300 S. Capitol, Lansing, Michigan, Phone: 517-1195.

Anytime you need information concerning the snow conditions, you can call toll free: Instate: 800-292-2520; Outstate: 800-248-5456.

Readers are invited to send their opinions on events of public interest to the editor of The Associated Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Avenue, Wayne, 48184. Each letter must include the writer's signature, address and telephone numbers. Letters which do not include the above criteria will not be published.

Names will be withheld from letters to be published only for good reasons. Those reasons must be included on the letter. The request "do not use my name" is not enough and those letters will be published with names. The editor reserves the right to edit and condense letters.

On the brighter side

'Our Jim is not so hot'

By JIM BRADLEY
Eagle Staff Writer

"Baby, it's cold outside!"

That's not only a favorite song title of past years, it's a warning that the bottom has just fallen out of the thermometer.

Temperatures have been so frigid lately that people in these parts are afraid to stick their nose out the door. The weather has been bleaker than a reporter's paycheck and colder than a mother-in-law's kiss.

But we sturdy souls must carry on.

And despite the cold temperatures, you'd be surprised at the humor you can find among the icicles. Could it be called "good humor?"

"Dashing through the Snow" is not necessarily a sleigh-ride, it also describes a freezing person's sprint from the car to get inside where it's warm. Icy stares and "cold shoulders" have nothing to do with feelings toward another person. It's a way of winter life.

Psychologists tell us that cold weather helps us get along together better because we unite our efforts to fight a common enemy. There's nothing we can do but accept it, they say. So we get along better as a result. They even say cold weather's good for us. (Can you get too much of a "good" thing?)

I thought of the cold weather last week as I bundled up to cover the dedication of the new I-275 highway and was surprised to find nearly 150 brave souls huddled together for the opening of the new major interstate freeway.

Every major Wayne County political figure was there, except possibly Sheriff William Lucas, who couldn't make it. However, he did dispatch a beautiful helicopter to the scene that circled overhead during the ceremonies. The chopper had the word "Sheriff" frozen, I mean painted, on the side. The pilot must have had a sense of humor because he flashed a large sign that read: "Honk if you love the State Highway Department."

Shivering in sub-freezing weather, I held up a sign with trembling hand that replied: "Honk if your horn isn't frozen."

After the highway dedication, we were taken to the Airport Hilton for a luncheon and more introductions of elected officials. It was a lovely hot buffet dinner — and I'm glad they served a warm meal. I couldn't have looked any "Cold-cuts" in the face.

A few people slipped away for a highball before the buffet but most of the 100 guests huddled near heat registers after coming inside from wind-swept, snow-covered I-275. Those who sipped the sauce thought it would warm them up, but they were mistaken. At least that's what a professor of physiology and pharmacology at the University of Dakota says.

Dr. Helge Ederstrom is an expert on how cold affects the human body. (He's especially an expert on how it affects HIS OWN body — he never leaves home without wearing his long johns). Anyway, Dr. Ederstrom says alcohol doesn't warm you up.

The doctor adds: "The Good Book says wine is a deceiver. Alcohol dilates the blood vessels and pours blood out near the skin. You may think you are warmer because it feels good; you feel a glow. But actually, you are pouring warm blood out into the cold, and you may lower your body temperature." Well, I'll tell you something. Alcohol doesn't ever "pour my warm blood out into the cold" because I never touch the sturr. Besides, I'm so fat that it takes an awful long time for my blood to reach the surface of my skin.

Dr. Ederstrom added that we can adapt to the cold. "Your nerves become less sensitive the more you are out in it," he says. (Boy, next thing I know my wife'll be saying my brain has been in cold storage — and she'll be joined by my boss and a few others I know).

Australian bushmen who often sleep outside in sub-freezing temperatures have adapted. So has the Sherpa guide who climbs barefoot through the Himalaya mountains, according to Dr. Ederstrom. Can't you just see the Sherpa guide slipping into bed next to his wife at night after a long bare-foot stroll up the snowy mountain? (And you think YOUR spouse has cold feet!).

Dr. Ederstrom says everybody should wear a hat because heat most easily escapes the body through the head. Is this where they got the idea of a "hot head?" (I just looked over at my managing editor and I'm late getting this column in. I think I see some steam escaping through his head). Maybe he should wear a hat at his desk.

Most of all, Ederstrom points out, "To achieve the right brand of adaptation requires exposure to the cold 16 to 18 hours a day for two weeks. Then your blood will flow more quickly, you won't shiver as much and your metabolism will kick into high gear."

All this reminds me of a time in history when a Roman Catholic Pope made a local king stand barefooted in the snow for three days before seeing him. (That's what I call getting a very cool reception).

But let's face it, everybody is suffering from the cold. This morning I saw two Brink's security guards stop at a local restaurant for coffee with the temperature below zero. Since they didn't want to leave the money unguarded, they took turns coming in out of the frigid weather. While one drank hot coffee, his partner stayed inside the armored truck with the money. For the first time in my life I really began to understand the meaning of "cold cash."

Then last night my wife and I tried to keep warm against the cold night air. As we stood side by side, I pulled the collar of my heavy overcoat tight around my neck. I snuggled up my boots and tugged my wool gloves on a little tighter. "Boy it's cold," I said through chattering teeth. "This heavy topcoat and these warm gloves sure help keep me warm."

My wife looked sympathetically at me. "Yes Dear, I know," she replied. "But are you sure you're supposed to wear them inside watching television?"

Now I've got to finish this column in a hurry because it's way late. My managing editor is really going to be mad at me. Oh, oh, here he comes now. He's walking up to my desk now.

"Jim, would you please step outside with me? Never mind putting on your overcoat. And take your shoes off. See that snowpile over there? I've got this brilliant idea that will make your blood flow more quickly and help kick your metabolism into high gear!"

Okay, who's the wise-guy that introduced him to Dr. Ederstrom?

The heart of the PCHA

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations,
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

Today instead of discussing a purely patient-practitioner relationship or service, we'd like to write about those people who are responsible for the very delicate and sensitive task of issuing policy for the PCHA: the Board of Directors.

Each member community—and there are 24 cities and townships in the PCHA—is represented on the Board. The form of representation is spelled out in the Act which created all nine hospital authorities in Michigan: Public Act 47 of 1945.

A participating community is allowed one Board member for the first 20,000 population, and one for each additional 40,000 or fraction thereof.

Under this formula, there are 40 members on the Board from specific member communities.

The Act also specifies that the 40 members selected by the legislative bodies of the communities elect by ballot seven members at large.

The members selected by the legislative bodies (i.e., City Council, Village or Township Board) must be registered electors in that county, while the seven members at large can come from any of the 24 participating communities.

Thus the PCHA Board of Directors now comprises 47 members.

It is important to note that the Board is an outstanding example of consumer participation in the decision-making process.

The Board members are, by and large, laypeople who volunteer their time and talents and serve without compensation.

Regular business meetings are held once each month from September through June—the Executive Committee, working with various subcommittees and the Executive Director, handles PCHA policy during the summer months of July and August. Decisions made by the Executive Committee during this two-month period are subject to approval of the complete Board of Directors.

During the week prior to the regular business meeting, another group, known as the Operating Committee, meets to make recommendations to the full Board.

The Operating Committee comprises the four officers of the Board (Chairman, Vice Chairman, Secretary, and Treasurer) plus the Chairmen of the various standing committees.

The Operating Committee receives recommendations from the standing committees (e.g., Personnel, Finance, Community Relations, Buildings and Property) and from these recommendations makes motions for full Board consideration.

While at first glance it may appear that the decision-making process is inordinately complicated by the several echelons of committee structure, it must be recognized that PCHA is a very large organization with a budget this fiscal year approaching 60-million dollars and, when Heritage Hospital comes on line, that budget figure will be increased substantially.

Decisions which reflect such awesome budgets and which affect a potential 1-million people in two counties and 3000 employees in four — soon to be five hospitals — must be carefully considered and checked and re-checked before approval is given for implementation.

In addition to budget approvals, personnel staffing requirements, and capital equipment purchases, the Board must also interface with the Medical Advisory Committee, approve applications for membership to three medical staffs, cause bonds to be issued for new plant construction (18-million dollars for Heritage Hospital, for instance), and generally monitor the myriad of activities which occur in the contemporary hospital.

Clearly, the Board cannot make all decisions unilaterally; hence, the professionals working in the hospitals and the central office are required to make inputs to questions under consideration.

Yet, and by Statute, it is the Board which ultimately must make the final decisions — the go-no-go — the approved-disapproved.

Board members can easily spend upwards of 20 hours a week working on hospital business. Hours for which, as we said earlier, there is no compensation in the form of money.

Still, there is compensation which takes a different form. It's the satisfaction of knowing that through their efforts, 1240 beds are available in five acute-care, short-term, general hospitals — beds which not too many years ago were only a dream. That, then, is the true reward.

Ore of America's safest schools

by LESKINSOLVING
WASHINGTON, D.C. — The D.C. Public School System — of which Miss Amy Carter will become one of 125,000 students on Friday, January 21 — had the following official felony statistics for the year 1975:
Rape - 3; Other sex offense - 4; Concealed dangerous weapon - 4; Sodomy - 5; Threats - 6; Arson - 15; Narcotics violation - 15; Property desecration - 30; Robbery - 98; Assault - 140; Larceny - 386.
This total of 706 felonies includes only those which were reported. It does not include either 154 cases of unlawful entry, or 428 burglaries which presumably took place for the most part after school hours or over the weekend.
By striking contrast to these more than 1,000 school crimes in one year, Taddeus Stevens School — where Amy Carter is to enter the fourth grade — had not a single felony during 1975. (However, Francis Junior High, where Amy will matriculate in September of 1979, had five petty larcenies, one unlawful entry and one narcotics case.)
Stevens School is located in a comparatively well-patrolled business district which is adjacent to the heavily guarded Embassy Row district. And while the Secret Service has refused to disclose how many of its agents will accompany

Miss Carter to school, they will undoubtedly make Stevens the best-policed school in Washington.
Since the announcement that the President's daughter will attend Stevens, this school has received as many as 15 phone calls per day from parents outside the district who are willing to pay the special tuition charge of $1,117 a year so that their children may be enrolled.
After he won the Democratic nomination, Governor Carter denounced what he termed "a political and economic elite who have shaped decisions and never had to account for mistakes, nor to suffer injustice. When the public schools are inferior or torn by strife, their children go to exclusive schools."
This category includes William and Eleanor Mondale, son and daughter of the Vice President-elect, who attend St. Albans (for $3,155) and Georgetown Day School (for $2,500).
The Carter pronouncement on public schools may cause a massive Democratic exodus from Metropolitan Washington private schools. But is crime-free Secret Service-guarded Stevens School big enough to accommodate all the children of the Carter Administration?

Public school finance deliberated in Lansing

D. FASSETT

By GARY OWEN
State Representative-22nd District

It seems safe to predict, from the number and variety of proposals for change being made in Lansing, that the subject of public school finance will be thoroughly deliberated and debated by the Michigan Legislature in the coming session.
A Governor's Task Force on Property Tax Revision has recommended, essentially, that we maintain the existing system; but other sources are calling for revampings of that system, whether major or minor, short-range or long-range.
SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE Bobby Crim, frequently referred to as "the second most powerful man in state government," has announced that he will be offering, for Legislative consideration, a revised state school aid formula designed to deemphasize the importance of property taxes and millage elections.
Crim seeks to reverse the present trend, whereby state funding can serve as an incentive for millage increases, with the start of a program whereby the higher-millage districts will receive state aid rewards for decreasing their tax levels.

THE STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION has urged the legalization of a local school district income tax, to be levied by a school board without a vote of the people in certain instances.
HOUSE REPUBLICAN LEADER Dennis Cawthorne has also proposed a local school district income tax, but one that could be levied only with a vote of the people.
A HOUSE REPUBLICAN TASK FORCE has recommended that a ballot proposal be prepared for 1978, somewhat similar to the one defeated by the people in 1972, whereby the power of local school districts to seek voted millages and levy property taxes would be sharply curtailed, with the state income tax increased to make up lost revenue.

Most proponents of school-finance change describe their proposals as "reform," but it must be noted that the term "school-financing reform" has traditionally meant many different things to many different interests.
When school officials speak of "reform," they generally visualize a system whereby they would be assured of both more revenue and larger annual increases than they presently receive, without the labor, expense and uncertainty of repeated millage elections.
Spokesmen for so-called "taxpayer revolt" groups, on the other hand, look upon "reform" chiefly as a means of cutting school property taxes, with little or no increase in other types of taxes.
When state-level school-finance experts refer to "reform" they think in terms of such aspects as narrowing the "revenue gap" among Michigan's 530 K-12 school districts. Right now, some of the state's more than two million school children have less than $1,000 spent on their education annually, while others have $2,300 or $2,400.
Obviously, no single "reform" plan can ever meet all of these varied and contradictory expectations. To achieve broad-based support through compromise, a proposal would have to offer less revenue than the schools expect, less tax relief than taxpayer groups anticipate, and less of a gain toward greater fiscal equality than state-level planners visualize.
The all-important first step in judging various proposals for change is a basic understanding of what is to be changed. No one can intelligently evaluate the plans and prospects for revision of Michigan's school-financing system without first analyzing in detail the system that exists today.

Dear consumer

Stop, Look, Read Before you buy

By VIRGINIA KNAUER
Special Assistant to the President and Director
Office of Consumer Affairs
Department of Health, Education and Welfare

Remember that one-liner from TV a few years ago? "What you see is what you get."
Too often, however, what you THINK you see is NOT what you get.
Because advertising familiarizes us with brand names and package designs of a multitude of products, we don't always read labels. We simply pick up packages that look like the ones pictured in ads or on TV.
Unscrupulous companies play on consumers by putting their lower quality products into packages that look like the brand name packages.
A prime example of look-alike packaging that cheats consumers in the sale of blank audio tapes for cassette and cartridge players.
These look-alike tape products are usually not of the best quality. They are sold mainly in transient tourist areas and so-called "bargain" outlets for half the price of nationally advertised brands of blank tapes. But, if you stop and read the labels carefully, you might see names such as "KDK," "Computron," "Four Star" and "Skymaster" — names close enough to the national brand names to fool you.

Larry Finely, executive director of the International Tape Association (ITA) has told me that "jamming" is a common problem with the poorer quality cassettes, cartridges and tapes. Also, their performance is usually 20-30 percent below what can be expected from the better quality products.
Before you buy blank cassettes, eight-track cartridges or even pre-recorded tapes and records, you should:

- Carefully examine the product for a reliable trade-mark.
- Familiarize yourself with the list prices of products you buy regularly, and question thoroughly and suspicious "bargains."
- Purchase these products from reputable stores. Most companies that manufacture and sell quality blank tapes and recordings guarantee a 100 percent replacement policy for defective items.

If you buy a poor quality product with the mistaken belief that it is a well known brand, I recommend that you take the following action:

- If possible, return the tape to the seller for a refund or exchange for the product you believed you were getting.
- Notify the manufacturer whose product has been copied.
- Notify Larry Finely, International Tape Association, 10 W. 66th St., New York, N.Y. 10028
- Notify the Federal Trade Commission, Washington, D. C. 20580.
- Notify my office: Office of Consumer Affairs, Washington, D. C. 20201.

Porter-Gaffney ceremony solemnized at St. Ursula's

The newly wed Daniel Porters spent five days honeymooning in the Smoky Mountains of North Carolina before taking up residence in Ypsilanti.

Mary Gaffney became Mrs. Porter in a Nov. 24 ceremony at St. Ursula Catholic Church in Ypsilanti. The Rev. James Fitzgerald presided at the Thanksgiving Eve wedding which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Gaffney of 1708 Victor, Ypsilanti, and the son of William V. Porter of 47063 Ayres Rd., Belleville, and Mrs. Uka Cartelli of Pontiac.

For the 6:30 p.m. rite the altar was adorned with a single arrangement of white gladiolas.

Escorted up the aisle by her father, the bride was gowned in a traditional white creation of peau de soie with vertical rows of ruffled lace forming the little fitted bodice, bishop sleeves and A-line skirt. Styled with a high, rounded neckline, the toe-touching gown drifted into a chapel train as she walked.

Her silk illusion veil, cut in mid-back length, was caught to a flat crescent headpiece of lace. Completing her bridal finery was an arm bouquet of red and white long-stemmed roses, baby's breath and fern tied with white satin streamers.

Cindy Hudge of Belleville, the bride's best friend, was chosen to be maid of honor. Her formal length rose-colored gown featured short sleeves and a V-neckline. She carried a colonial arrangement of pink and white carnations and baby's breath and wore matching carnations in her hair.

Kim Gaffney of Ypsilanti was her sister's only bridesmaid. Her ensemble was identical to that of the honor attendant's.

The bridegroom's cousins, Shelly and Amy Dalton, the daughters of Mrs. Donna Dalton of Ypsilanti, filled the roles of flowergirls while another cousin, Scott Crum, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Crum of Ypsilanti, carried out the duties of ringbearer.

On the esquire side, Brian Miller of Ypsilanti served as best man and Greg Johnson, Larry Porter and Jim Gaffney, brothers of the bridal couple, as groomsmen.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gaffney donned a powder blue street-length dress while the bridegroom's mother chose to wear a formal purple gown with a long cape. Both were presented with corsages of red roses.

Some 350 guests attended the wedding reception which took place at the UAW Hall on Michigan Avenue, Belleville. The young couple now are making their home at 2777 Bryn Mawr, Apt. 811W, Ypsilanti.

The new Mrs. Porter is in her senior year at Belleville High School. Her husband, a Belleville High School graduate, is employed by Hydra-Matic Division of General Motors at Willow Run.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Georgie Porter of Belleville, was held at the Fogcutter in Ypsilanti.

Widow/Widower Groups

There are many problems widows and widowers encounter. Many of these problems have been met and solved before by others. There are national and local groups that may be helpful to the widowed.

THEOS, a national, non-denominational organization founded in 1962 by Bea Decker in Pittsburgh, takes its name from the purpose of the group: They Help Each Other Spiritually. THEOS is helpful to the young and middle-aged, recently bereaved individual who needs to work through this period of transition (from shock and mourning to re-entry into a useful role in society).

Parents Without Partners, Inc., an international, non-sectarian, educational organization, is another useful group widows and widowers may wish to be informed about. There are about 500 chapters in the United States and Canada. They are primarily concerned with the interests and welfare of single parents and their children. The group has a large proportion of divorced persons among its membership.

American Association of Retired Persons is a very large and organized group nationally, with personal benefits to members over 55. These should all be considered by widows-widowers and they get ready to re-enter social life.

For more information on these groups, stop in or phone us about them. We welcome your questions—in private or publicly, through this column.

350,000 boxes the goal

Girl Scout Cookie Sale set for Feb. 1-14

By LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

"Not a single house missed!" is the battle cry for some 6,000 Girl Scouts, ages nine to 18, in Washtenaw, Livingston, Western Wayne and Northern Monroe Counties as the group prepares to undertake its biggest Girl Scout cookie sale ever.

The goal for the 1977 sale is 350,000 boxes — 15 per cent more than the 303,000 boxes sold last year. In order to attain their goal, Girl Scouts plan to contact every home in their neighborhoods with callbacks where necessary.

The young sales people will be happy to inform their customers that the price of a box of cookies has not been raised — especially good in these days of instant inflation! Boxes containing from 18 to 72 quality cookies will be priced at $1.25, the same as last year.

And for the first time in this area, Girl Scouts will be offering "Peanut Butter Patties" — the most popular Girl Scout cookie in all areas where it has been sold. The patty is a vanilla cookie topped with real peanut butter covered in chocolate.

Cookie buffs will also be able to choose from four traditional flavors as in the past — "Thin Mint", a vanilla cookie covered with mint-flavored chocolate; "P.B.'s", oatmeal sandwich filled with peanut butter frosting; "Sandwich Creme", vanilla sandwich with creme filling, and "Shortbread", a vanilla shortbread cookie. The cookies are produced by FFV, nationally known quality bakery who picked up the luncheon tab.

Girl Scouts will be knocking at doors starting Feb. 1 and will continue until Feb. 14. Deliveries will be made during Girl Scout Week, March 5-13.

The annual sales campaign was saluted with a kick-off luncheon Jan. 12 at Win Schuler's in Ann Arbor. Some 100 persons were on hand for briefing meetings, a punch reception with Sonny Eliot, famed Detroit area TV weather forecaster, who is Honorary Cookie Sale Chairman for 1977, and the luncheon and awards which followed.

As an added incentive for spurring cookie sales, the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council sponsored a joke contest which was open to all registered Girl Scouts, Brownies, Juniors, Cadettes, Seniors and Adults. The joke had to have something to do with Girl Scout cookies which would, hopefully, convince somebody to buy more cookies.

Jokes were to have been submitted by Christmas and then were sent to Sonny Eliot who judged the resulting 78 entries written by Scouts from throughout Washtenaw, Livingston, Western Wayne and Northern Monroe Counties.

Prize winners, announced by Eliot after lunch, were Donna McKay of 6068 Carnegie, Romulus, first place. The 10-year-old's winning entry asked: "What do you get when you cross an elephant with a box of Peanut Butter Patties?" Answer: Either an elephant that sticks to the roof of your mouth, or a Girl Scout cookie that never forgets! Donna was presented with an arm bouquet of long-stemmed red roses and carnations with Girl Scout cookies cleverly tucked in the arrangement.

Second place winner was Diane Park, 11, from Ann Arbor.

Another local girl, 10-year old Joy Tannous of 35811 Huron River Dr.,

New Boston, tied for third place with a 9-year-old Milan Girl Scout, Trudy Johnson. Joy's joke was "What do you get when you cross King Kong with a Girl Scout sandwich creme?" The answer? Why, a vanilla gorilla, of course! Red carnations interspersed with Girl Scout cookies formed the corsages presented to second and third placers.

The girls received their prizes from a face familiar in all their homes — that of Sonny Eliot, WWJ-TV's "News-4" weathercaster and host of Channel 4's "At the Zoo" series. He has long been active in promoting community organizations such as the Detroit Police Department, the Detroit and Windsor Symphony Orchestras and the Detroit Tigers.

Mrs. Jean Spence of Ann Arbor, cookie sale chairman for 1977, said, "We are enormously grateful to Mr. Eliot. His participation in the joke contest has given our cookie sale a real boost."

On hand for the occasion were newly-appointed area cookie sale chairmen and troop leaders who will direct the efforts of some 300 troops in taking orders as well as members of the press and FFV bakery representatives.

Cookie sale chairmen

Four area women were among the 100 persons who attended the Jan. 12 kick-off luncheon for the 1977 Girl Scout Cookie Sale at Win Schuler's in Ann Arbor. The quartet is among those who volunteered to be local chairmen for the sale. Mrs. Dolores Wallace (from left) will be in charge of 128 girls in five troops in the Huron Township area; Mrs. Connie Morris will direct efforts of 300 girls in 13 troops from Romulus; Mrs. Diane Goczy will handle the sale of 271 girls in 14 troops in and around Belleville and Mrs. Charlotte Stafford will do the same for 68 girls in four troops in the Flat Rock community. Sonny Eliot was on hand to greet the workers.

They'll coordinate sales

Local foursome take on cookie chairmen duties

The Huron Valley Girl Scout Council has released the names of four local area who have been appointed local chairmen for the 1977 Girl Scout Cookie Sale which will get underway Feb. 1 and continue until Feb. 14.

Diane Goczy of 41455 Fret Rd., Belleville, will direct the sales efforts of 271 girls in 14 troops from Edgemont, St. Anthony, Elwell, Sumpter, Denton, Quirk, Haggerty, South Junior High and North Junior High Schools.

The Romulus community Scouts will be handled by Mrs. Connie

Morris of 37545 Walnut Dr., Romulus. She will direct the efforts of 300 girls in 13 troops from the Romulus Elementary and Junior and Senior High Schools as well as Cory, Mt. Pleasant, St. Aloysius, Gordonier, Hayti, Merriman, Hale Creek, Beverly, Wick and Barth Schools.

Mrs. Dolores Wallace of 27690 W. Huron River Dr., Huron Township, will take charge of 128 girls in five troops from the New Boston, Waltz, Willow and Riverside Schools.

Mrs. Charlotte Stafford of 29746 Red Cedar, Flat Rock, will do the same for 68 girls in four troops from Barns, Simpson, Evergreen, Brownstown Township, Maple Grove, Hand and Woodhaven Schools.

The four women were among the 100 volunteers who attended the kick-off luncheon for the 1977 Girl Scout Cookie Sale which followed morning briefing sessions.

They were told that participating Girl Scout troops are given 20 cents per box of cookies sold to fund troop community service projects, educational trips and the purchase of camping equipment. In addition, troops with the top 10 per cent sales records for their area will get a free camping weekend at one of the Council's three camps.

Individual girls selling 77 boxes or more will be given a special T-shirt designed just for Huron Valley Girl Scouts. Girls selling 50 boxes or more will earn cookie sale patches.

But, every girl participating in the sale will receive a certificate of appreciation in recognition of the vital service she has performed for the organization from Council President Frances Bauer of Plymouth.

India art on display at museum University

An exhibition of the art of India and Southeast Asia is now in progress and will continue through Feb. 13 at the University of Michigan Museum of Art. The show was organized by the Cleveland Museum of Art.

Drawn from the private collection of George P. Bickford of Cleveland, the assembled works — 90 miniature paintings and more than 40 sculptures and objects — reveal the richness and variety of India's artistic tradition from its beginnings around the third millennium B.C. to the present century, according to the Cleveland Museum.

Stanislaw Czuma,

Cleveland Museum curator of Indian art, has selected from works collected during the past 50 years by Bickford. A former U.S. captain stationed in New Delhi, Bickford is now Honorary Consul of India in Cleveland where he serves as a trustee of the Cleveland Museum.

Czuma, who also prepared the show's catalogue, will lecture on the exhibition at 8 p.m. Jan. 24 in Auditorium D., Angell Hall.

The U-M Museum of Art is open Mondays through Saturdays 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sundays 1 to 5 p.m. For further information, call 763-1231.

Ready in 20 minutes

It takes only one pound of fish fillets to feed four people with this easy to prepare Fish Pie with Cheese Biscuit Topping. It can be a meal in itself or an ingenious cook will look in her refrigerator for a good accompaniment. Something on the cold crunchy side would be ideal so opt for an apple salad if you have extra fruit or a simple tossed salad if your vegetable bin has the makings.

For your recipe file

All-in-one meal

Most homemakers know that doctors and nutritionists recommend at least five fish meals a week because of the excellent nutrition fishery products provide. Fish, when properly prepared, can also be satisfying and delicious as well as being good for you. But did you know that a little fish goes a long way in feeding a family without straining the food budget?

Some of the more scarce varieties are expensive, of course, but the vast majority of fishery products are thrifty buys. Canned fish, fish portions and sticks, and the wide variety of fish fillets, in particular, are good buys because there is no waste — what you buy is one hundred percent food. When buying fish fillets, investigate both fresh and frozen fillets in your supermarket or seafood store. Those that are seasonally plentiful will be the most reasonably priced.

One pound of fish fillets goes a long way in feeding four persons without a strain on the budget in this Fish Pie With Cheese-Biscuit Topping recipe. Quick and easy to prepare and requiring only about 20 minutes oven-time, this entree utilizes freezer and shelf-ready extenders such as frozen mixed vegetables, canned cream of celery soup, milk, onion salt, cheese, and prepared biscuit mix. This hearty entree could be a hurry-up meal for company too because its low-cost features are overshadowed by its succulent taste. Try it and see!

Fish Pie With Cheese-Biscuit Topping

1 pound fish fillets, fresh or frozen
1 package (10 ounce) frozen mixed vegetables, broken apart
1 can (10-1/2 ounce) condensed cream of celery soup
1 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon onion salt
1 cup prepared biscuit mix
1/2 cup shredded process American cheese

Thaw frozen fish. Cut into 1-inch pieces. Combine mixed vegetables, soup, 1/2 cup milk, and onion salt in 10-inch frypan with heatproof handle; mix well. Heat slowly about 5 minutes. Add fish; heat until bubbly. Combine biscuit mix, cheese, and remaining 1/2 cup milk in bowl; stir to make smooth dough. Spoon into 8 even mounds onto hot fish mixture. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees F., 18 to 20 minutes or until biscuits are done and browned. Makes 4 servings.

Chamberlains mark 40th anniversary

A special wedding anniversary, their 40th, was observed recently by Jim and Lillie Chamberlain of 27567 Eureka Rd., Romulus. Mrs. Chamberlain, who is more familiarly known as "Gus", was Lillie Smithy when she exchanged wedding vows in Lewsville, Ark. on Jan. 6, 1937.

The couple, who resided in Flat Rock prior to their move to Romulus some 29 years ago, are the parents of four children: Mrs. Robert (Norma) Wilschick of Sterling Heights; Mrs. Donald (Martha) Galvin of Mt. Clemens; Jimmie, who lives in Onsted with his wife, Diane, and Leon, who makes his home in Sterling Heights with his wife, Glenda. There are also nine grandchildren to make up the family picture.

It was practically a week-long celebration for the Chamberlains whose years together were acknowledged with a round of applause during Sunday services at the Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus. At the Jan. 5 meeting of the Flat Rock Senior Citizens Club they were serenaded with a violin and harmonica duet of "Anniversary Waltz."

On the night of their anniversary, the twosome dined at the Lichee Gardens in Wyandotte and the next evening were taken out to dinner at The Red Apple by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sturtz of Romulus.

The highlight of the week was the anniversary dinner, complete with turkey and all the trimmings, hosted by the couple's daughter and son-in-law, Martha and Don Galvin of Mt. Clemens. The adult members of the family joined in the celebration along with Mrs. Chamberlain's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Smithy of Wayne. Mr. Chamberlain retired last June from Great Lakes Steel in Ecorse. He and his wife have kept busy with visits to their family and friends and active participation in their church and the senior citizens.

At Study Club

U-M chancellor speaks on China

The International Relations Committee of the Women's Study Club of Belleville, chaired by Mary Boyd, was in charge of the group's Jan. 12 meeting held at the Lemontree Club House.

Dr. Pat Goodall, chancellor at the University of Michigan's Dearborn Campus, spoke on his recent trip to Red China. As part of a University team, he spent one month abroad visiting the private homes of the people and elementary schools and universities, alike. The group studied the culture, economics and education of the country. Dr. Goodall's talk was accompanied by colorful slides taken during the trip.

Mrs. Boyd and her committee, Sally Griffith, Jean Stone, Geri Knight and Jessica Van Sickle, served dessert and beverages prior to the program and afterward turned the meeting over to club president Avis White.

The 25 members attending heard a report from Bea Raymond, treasurer, on the results of the recent Christmas Cash Raffle conducted by the club and the Junior Study Club of Belleville. A profit of $187.50 has been earmarked for the Horizon Park project.

Future club plans call for assisting at the Ash Wednesday services to be held at the Van Buren Convalescent Center; the next meeting on Feb. 9 which will be a study of wild flowers conducted by the Conservation Department; and attendance at the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs Legislation Day on Feb. 16.

Grand Regent to visit local WOTM

Sunday Jan. 23 will be a red letter day for Women of the Moose, Belleville Chapter 1135. They have the honor of entertaining Betty Van Heck, Grand Regent of the Women Of the Moose. There will be many guests from surrounding chapters to share the day.

An enrollment of new members will be held at 2 p.m. in her honor. Dinner will follow with many door prizes. All co-workers should try to attend.

The Child Care Chapter Night, which was to have been held on Jan. 10, was postponed until Jan. 17 because of the storm. One candidate, Betty Beavers, sponsored by Majorie Koeppe, was to be enrolled.

The board of officers attended the executive session held at Ann Arbor Moose home on Jan. 9.

Several co-workers have been participating in Green Cap Day programs of neighboring chapters. The College of Regents meeting was held at Peggy Reese's home on Jan. 19.

New jail success

The provision for a new county jail is first on a long list of activities John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, considers strong on public safety and human resources improvements. Barr also pointed to programs for the unemployed, various health measures and other general social services implemented by the board in 1977 as deserving praise for the judicious use of tax dollars.

He called passage of the $35 million jail millage that was placed on the ballot by the board "the first real financial progress in this direction in decades."

Barr also applauded actions of the commissioners which provided for temporary housing of excess jail inmates at the Detroit House of Correction, and at renovated quarters on grounds of Wayne County General Hospital in Westland. Both facilities will be used as jail annexes until construction of the proposed new jail in downtown Detroit.

In addition, Barr called attention to board appropriations for expansion of the Sheriff's Road Patrol headquarters in Westland, increased security at the Juvenile Court and Youth Home complex, following a police crackdown on youth gangs in Detroit last summer, and public hearings that were held to test sentiment for financial compensation for victims of crime.

He added that the Board of Commissioners is particularly proud of programs undertaken to help the unemployed, and that the county Office of Manpower is responsible for jobs or occupational training for 12,659 people last year.

"Wages funneled into Wayne County through this system totaled $14 million," he said.

Nearly every county department was given assistance through the manpower program, which was just one of many efforts made to offer work to the unemployed, promote commercial and industrial development in the county, and to preserve economic programs already in existence, Barr added.

And he noted the Board approval for an application for $30 million of federal emergency public works funds to finance construction of a new Juvenile Court building, the renovation of the present Juvenile Court and work on 17 other capital improvement projects.

One of the main projects for fifth graders at Mount Pleasant School in Romulus was their "Vote for Uncle Sam" school play near the close of the Bicentennial year. The lead character, Uncle Sam, was played by Jackie Bryan (left) while Annie Irvin was the judge. Lisa Priest portrayed the Statue of Liberty, and Bill Martinez had the monumental task of dressing up as the world for the production.

BEWARE Gas bills will be higher

Those holiday activities which just ended, combined with the continuing unusually cold weather, may result in higher than normal energy bills, according to J.P. Thomas, district manager for Consumers Power Co.

Another reason for higher bills this month will be higher prices which the utility is paying to interstate gas pipeline suppliers, Thomas said. The price increases were authorized by the Federal Power Commission (FPC) because of the increased costs incurred by the suppliers and to provide incentives for natural gas exploration.

Those increases, which the company will begin to pass through to customers in this month's bills, will not result in additional profits for Consumers Power, according to Thomas. The increases are passed on directly to customers under cost adjustment procedures authorized by state regulators.

Thomas pointed out that with shorter daylight hours and holiday activities which consume energy, customer consumption usually goes up at this time of year.

"When you add the fact that the weather has been so cold, some of our customers could receive substantially higher bills," he added.

The National Weather Service said December was abnormally cold and that January also will have unusually cold temperatures.

He suggested that customers dial down the thermostat to 68 degrees during the day and 60 degrees at night, limit the number of times outside doors are opened and close off the heat registers to rooms which are not used regularly.

Thomas advised customers in uninsulated homes to at least install ceiling insulation to help cut down fuel consumption and ultimately save money on their heating bills. The utility offers assistance in financing home insulation.

For those customers who want to avoid the problem of high winter bills next year, Thomas pointed out that the company offers an equal monthly payment program that customers may join in May of each year.

State seeks bigger return on fed tax dollars

The State Senate Majority Leader, his assistant and several other state legislative leaders met with the Michigan congressional delegation in Washington, D.C., this week to discuss the prospects of increasing federal outlays to the state.

"We're starting a brand new legislative session, with new leaders, new goals and new aspirations," said Senate Majority Leader William Faust (D-13th District). "We are committed to doing everything possible on the state level to raise the quality of life in Michigan, but we are redoubling our efforts and will plead our case on the federal level as well."

Faust and Senate Assistant Majority Leader Gary Corbin (Clio)

were elected to posts in the Senate last month when majority leadership offices in the Legislature's upper chamber were vacated.

"One of the most critical topics Sen. Corbin will initiate discussion on is the federal tax dollar drain we have been experiencing here in Michigan," Faust said. "It's shocking, but Michigan ranks last in the nation in the amount of federal outlays returned compared with what it sends to Washington in taxes."

"For every dollar we pay in federal taxes, only 65 cents is returned to this state. What's even more shocking is that a state like New Mexico receives $1.93 back for every dollar it sends to Washington!"

"For every dollar we pay in federal taxes, only 65 cents is returned to this state. What's even more shocking is that a state like New Mexico receives $1.93 back for every dollar it sends to Washington!"

"We'd like to turn that around and raise Michigan to a much higher level in terms of federal funds it receives," Faust added. "I have been disappointed in the lack of success our federal lawmakers have had in securing federal money for our state because we have severe people problems, such as unemployment, which can better be solved with more dollars from Uncle Sam."

"Recent studies and reports published in national journals have documented a trend in the allocation of federal funds which shows that those dollars have been siphoned off by states in the 'Sun Belt' at the expense of states in the north," Faust said. The "Sun Belt" is the region extending from the southeast westward to California.

"Largely, this has been due to the fact that federal dollars, particularly those associated with defense spending, have been funneled into the states which have the most powerful leaders in Congress, rather than into those regions with the most serious social problems," Faust continued. "While the inequities to Michigan in the allocation of federal dollars is evident in more than 2-dozen areas, three are outstanding for the magnitude of under-funding.

"If federal spending were proportionate to population, we would receive $2.2 billion more in defense dollars, $320 million more in agriculture department expenditures and $160 million more in energy research development."

"But the issue really isn't the number of federal dollars coming to this state, but rather obtaining a greater means with which to help people and make this a better state in which to live. And the time to do that is now."

Other legislators who attended the Washington meeting were Speaker of the House Bobby Crim (D-Davison), House Speaker Pro Tempore Matthew McNeely (D-Detroit), House Appropriations Committee Chairman Dominic Jacobetti (D-Negaunee), Rep. Raymond Kehres (D-Monroe), vice chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, and Rep. Melvin Larsen (R-Oxford), member of the Appropriations Committee.

Also attending from the Senate were: Patrick McCollough (D-Dearborn), chairman of the Municipalities and Elections Committee; Minority Leader Robert W. Davis of Gaylord; and John Toepf (R-Cadillac), Minority Floor Leader.

'Y' preschool nursery accepts new registration

Registrations now are being taken for the second term of the Romulus Pre school Nursery, located in the Community United Methodist Church, 11160 Olive St., Romulus.

Sponsored by the Western Wayne County YWCA, the school teaches 3- and 4-year-olds. The next term begins Jan. 31.

"Any parents interested in enrolling their children are invited to attend an open house and orientation session at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 27 at the church," said Mrs. Mary Willoughby, area director for Romulus.

Three-year-olds have sessions from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays each week, while 4-year-olds meet on Mondays and Wednesdays during the same time period.

Fees will be $10 per month for children attending two sessions a week, while those who go one day a week will pay $5 per month.

Marilyn Garner, a professional certified teacher, will be helped by two mothers during each session.

Parents are invited to see new equipment, which includes a house-gym and slide set, a science center, rhythm band and instruments and large building blocks. Mrs. Willoughby also said exercising equipment is available for children with large or small builds.

In addition to all the indoor activity, many field trips will be taken, with parents serving as chaperones.

"Besides the creative activities for the pre school children, there will be 'parent effectiveness' sessions for the parents," Mrs. Willoughby said. "These sessions will help the parents guide the emotional, physical and social development of their children."

Doctors and psychologists say the first five years of a child's life is vital to their development and growth, according to Mrs. Willoughby.

She urged parents to call her at 561-4110 as soon as possible to enroll their children in the pre school nursery.

The nursery chairman is Mrs. Ruby Ursiny, who can be reached at 941-4572 for additional information.

Officials anticipate rush for license tabs by mail

Now that the holiday gift buying rush is over,

IRS has answers

Taxpayers in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties now may obtain assistance with their 1976 federal tax returns through the Internal Revenue Service's (IRS) toll-free telephone system, District Director R.L. Plate said.

IRS taxpayer service personnel will be on duty from 8:30 a.m. to 5:15 p.m., Monday through Friday, throughout the filing season.

Most wage earners and homeowners will be able to get answers to their questions by calling the toll-free number for their area, Plate said. The number in Detroit and Highland Park is 237-0800 and Pontiac, 858-2530, and Mt. Clemens, 469-4200. Taxpayers outside these areas, but within the 313 calling area, can call toll free by dialing 1-800-462-0830.

Taxpayers with more complex tax questions will be able to obtain assistance in person Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m., in the Detroit, Dearborn, Southfield, Pontiac and Mt. Clemens offices.

The Detroit office is located on the first floor of the McNamara Federal Building, 477 Michigan Avenue. In Dearborn, the office is at 22720 Michigan Avenue; and in Southfield, the IRS office is in Room 717, Heritage Office Plaza, 24901 Northwestern Highway. The Mt. Clemens office is at 33 N. River Road; and in Pontiac, it is in the Federal Building, 35 E. Huron. There is no charge for in-person assistance from IRS.

Plate reminded taxpayers that those with 1976 income of less than $8,000 may be eligible for an earned income credit and a check of up to $400. The credit is available to certain qualifying persons even if they may not otherwise be required to file an income tax return or had no tax withheld in 1976.

Plate urged everyone whose income is under $8,000 to inquire about the details of the earned income credit by calling the IRS.

the Secretary of State's office is anticipating a buying rush of a different kind — farsighted Michigan motor vehicle owners buying 1977 license tabs "the early, easy way" by mail.

According to Secretary of State Richard H. Austin, mail ordering of vehicle registrations and tabs are expected to increase steadily from now until the March 1 passenger vehicle deadline for mail sales.

Deadline for placing mail orders for commercial and trailer license tabs is February 1, one month earlier than the passenger deadline.

Austin said: "To order by mail, vehicle owners simply sign the ready-to-use applications mailed to them by our department, make any necessary corrections, and return them with the proper fee for each vehicle which is pre-printed on the application."

The license-by-mail address is Secretary of State, P. O. Box 30000, Lansing, 48909. The check should be made out to the State of Michigan and not to the Secretary of State.

Austin added: "Persons who order by mail will get their 1977 vehicle registrations and tabs within a few weeks, at most, from the time they send the application in."

He noted that the number of persons ordering by mail has increased substantially each year since its origination in 1973. Last year, nearly 850,000 motorists took advantage of the opportunity to save time by ordering their registrations by mail, instead of waiting in line at Secretary of State branch offices.

More than 6.6 million passenger car, cycle, trailer and commercial vehicle registrations were sent out for this year.

Freeway opening completes first of three major link-ups

The opening of the final 26 miles of I-275 last week has increased Michigan's freeway network to 1,666 miles and has completed the first of three major freeway links scheduled for opening this year.

Traffic is expected to begin moving late in the year on the full 10.2 miles of I-696 (Reuther) Freeway between I-75 and I-94 in Macomb County and the final 10.5 mile leg of I-96 (Jeffries) Freeway between I-275 just west of Livonia and M-39 (Southfield) Freeway in Detroit. Both are in their final stages of construction.

The State Highway Commission, reporting on its freeway program, said completion of I-275 leaves only 76 miles to go on Michigan's 1,181-mile segment of the nationwide Interstate freeway system. The state network is 93.5 per cent complete.

The I-275 freeway runs on a north-south course for 38 miles through Monroe, Wayne and Oakland counties and duals with I-96 for the northern 8-mile segment ending at Novi. The new freeway provides a western bypass of metropolitan Detroit.

Other portions of Interstate still to be completed are the midsection of I-475 (Buick) Freeway in Flint, I-69 from Charlotte north and east to Perry via Lansing and the mid-section of I-696 through south Oakland County.

Among the projects scheduled for completion this year are the final contracts on the last 5.8 miles of the M-14 freeway from the Washtenaw-Wayne county line east to the interchange with I-275 and I-96 west of Livonia.

Work is continuing on a 6.5-mile segment from its present terminus at M-153 (Ford Road) east to the Washtenaw-Wayne county line, with the full freeway scheduled for opening in late 1978 or the summer of 1979.

Work also is nearly complete on the widening of I-75 to six lanes from the Ohio state line north to US-24 in Wayne County and on the reconstruction of I-94 from west of Rawsonville Road near Ypsilanti east to I-275, also in Wayne County. Modernization of all of the M-39

(Southfield) Freeway, including concrete median safety barriers and new lighting fixtures on the barriers is among major work scheduled by the state during 1977. Similar work has been completed on the Ford and Lodge freeways.

Veto denies rights of deaf

Deaf persons throughout the state have been denied a chance for equal access to their government as a result of a veto by Gov. William Milliken of a measure designed to create a Michigan Commission for the Deaf, a bill sponsored in the Legislature by Sen. Patrick McCollough of Dearborn.

Milliken vetoed the legislatively approved measure late last week, citing agencies already involved in the field and the cost of a new commission and concerns over loss of control by the executive and legislative branch.

"First of all, seven agencies are represented on the proposed commission and the departments involved indicated their support of the measure," McCollough said. "Secondly, the total cost was to be $52,800.00 which certainly is a small price to pay for an assisting agency for an estimated 85,000 hearing impaired taxpayers."

"Finally, the agency was enthusiastically approved by the Legislature, so obviously the Governor is only concerned about losing personal control over future requests of our hearing impaired citizens."

"It is a sad day indeed for those citizens in Michigan who have worked so long and hard for recognition of the special difficulties of the deaf," Sen. McCollough added. "I am shocked by his callous attitude and lack of interest in their problems. His continued lack of compassion for the deaf is certainly a distressing note in light of the Governor's promise to assist those citizens in definite need."

In the armed forces

Hunt joins USAF

A Romulus man has enlisted in the U.S. Air Force through its Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

James Hunt, 17, the son of James Hunt of 15629 Springhill, Romulus, will be able to complete his high school education and wrap up personal affairs before starting four years of active military service, according to Air Force St. Sgt. Fred Davis, the service's recruiter stationed in Garden City.

He added that the service also will be able to schedule Hunt to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area.

Also in the armed forces:

Navy Seaman recruit Glenn J. Davis, the son of Mr. and Mrs.

Dewel L. Davis of 38323 Superior, Romulus, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Ill.

During the 8-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

A 1976 graduate of Romulus High School, he joined the Navy in September 1976.

Navy Seaman Recruit Dwayne E. Dawson, the son of Curtis Young of Warman, Romulus, has completed recruit training at the Naval training Center at Great Lakes, Ill.

During his 8-week training cycle he studied seamanship, close-order drill, Naval history and first aid.

He joined the Navy in October 1976.

Duane Willoughby, 17, of 16126 Dodge, Romulus, has entered the U. S. Air Force's Delayed Enlistment Program (DEP).

According to S. Sgt. Fred Davis, the Air Force recruiter in Garden City, Willoughby's entry into that branch of the armed forces through DEP will allow the Air Force to schedule an opening for him to attend basic training and be assigned to a job or skill area, and permit Willoughby, who attends Romulus Senior High School, to wrap up his personal affairs before reporting for duty.

Willoughby will enter the Air Force on March 3. Following graduation from the 6-week basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., he will receive technical training as an aircraft maintenance specialist and be assigned to an Air Force duty station.

Marine Lance Cpl. Chris E. Amis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Amis of 13090 Rawsonville Road, Belleville, has departed for an extended deployment in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is serving as a member of Marine Battalion Landing Team (BLT) - One Saint Six, homebased at Camp Lejeune, N.C.

His BLT is the ground element of the 34th Marine Amphibious Unit, which is the force-in-readiness for the U.S. Sixth Fleet, on call to project combined air-ground combat power ashore, if required.

He is scheduled to participate in amphibious training exercises and make port visits in Spain and Italy during the cruise.

He joined the Marine Corps in June 1975.

Budgeting can help beat bills' squeeze

Residents who are feeling the squeeze from unpaid bills may find Linda Joy, executive director of the Michigan Consumer Council, about getting in and out of debt.

Are you feeling the squeeze of unpaid bills?

If so, don't panic. Remember almost everybody is in debt sometime and it's nothing to be ashamed of. But it is your responsibility to regain financial stability.

your bills, take the time to figure out the situation on paper. List all your monthly expenses and unpaid bills in one column and then compare it with exactly how much money will be coming in that month to pay the bills.

If you need help, contact a budget counseling service listed in the yellow pages of the telephone directory under "debt management." Be sure to compare the prices of both profit and nonprofit debt management companies.

If you find you cannot pay a bill on time, contact the creditor immediately. Many creditors will cooperate with you, if you go to them before they must go to you. When you approach a creditor be polite and explain your problem briefly. If possible, suggest an alternative payment plan, but be open to the creditor's advice.

Once you make an agreement with a creditor, keep it. Creditors are not likely to cooperate a second time, if you break your first promise. Also, put the agreement in writing to avoid a possible misunderstanding later.

Of all bills, a person's mortgage payment probably is the most important one to pay on time. However, if you do get behind on a government insured mortgage, the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Veterans Administration have set up special relief programs for consumers behind in their payments.

And, if you can't pay your utility bills, the "consumer bill of rights", adopted by the Public Service Commission, allows you to enter into a settlement agreement with the utility. This agreement will guarantee your telephone, gas or electricity will not be turned off as long as you pay the amount stated in the agreement each month.

If you have questions about utility problems, contact the Consumer Services Division of the Public Service Commission by calling toll-free 800-292-8555.

For more detailed information, write for the council's free brochure, "What To Do When You Can't Pay Your Bills", from the Michigan Consumers Council, 414 Hollister Building, Lansing, MI 48933.

Welfare fraud is probed

A request by Att. Gen. Frank J. Kelley that a citizens' grand jury be impaneled to investigate Medicaid and welfare in Wayne County will be a reality soon.

Of his request Kelley said: "Our preliminary investigation has proceeded to the point where we feel the powers and authority of a citizens' grand jury are necessary."

Kelley's office has been investigating the Wayne County welfare program since a request for that investigation was made in November by Director of the Department of Social Services John T. Dempsey. Dempsey was supported in that request by Gov. William Milliken. Kelley's investigation has been conducted by members of his staff and detectives from the State Police.

The attorney general also has been investigating the possibility of fraud in the Michigan Medicaid program on the part of providers of medical services. That investigation was requested by the State Legislature.

Kelley said: "We now need the power of subpoena and the power to grant immunity to witnesses that the grand jury possesses in order to go forward in the case."

"Both the investigation of Medicaid and welfare will be included in the grand jury probe."

Kelley said the investigation has not, and will not, concentrate on any one group of people.

"There are three groups of people involved, those who are paid by the state to provide services to the poor, those who receive welfare services and money, and those who work in the Department of Social Services. We are not out to make any of these groups the scapegoat of this investigation. But where we find evidence of criminal wrongdoing, we will prosecute."

Kelley added that the investigation to date already has developed a substantial number of leads and that with the additional tools available to the grand jury he is confident indictments would be forthcoming.

Public Service Commission says

New rules govern 'Ma Bell' and her 'users'

New rules governing the relationship between telephone companies and their residential customers will be in effect by mid-May, according to the Michigan Public Service Commission (PSC). First issued for comment in April 1976, the rules cover payment of bills, security deposits, complaint procedures, discontinuation of service and hearing procedures. The PSC took formal action Jan. 3 to adopt the final rules after being notified by the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules on Dec. 29, 1976, that the 2-month statutory period for review by the committee had expired. The rules will be forwarded to the governor and then filed with the secretary of state, becoming effective 120 days later. The first comprehensive revision of residential telephone standards since 1944, the rules are patterned after the commission's consumer standards and billing practices for residential gas and electric service, adopted in 1975. The PSC said the rules provide for: — Twenty-one days for the payment of bills and the elimination of late payment charges and discounts. — The elimination of deposits for new and continued service except when the customer's unsatisfactory credit standing has been established. — Complaint and hearing procedures including settlement agreements, to insure due process rights for all Michigan residential telephone customers. — The hiring of hearing examiners who are not otherwise employed by the telephone utility to conduct hearings on billing complaints. — Delaying discontinuation of telephone service when a medical emergency exists. The rules also will: — Allow payment to be demanded within five days if a customer has had service discontinued within the last 12 months and thereafter runs up a large toll bill. — Allow telephone companies to use a customer's unpaid past due bill in another state as a basis for requesting a deposit. — Limit the amount that a guarantor of a customer's service can be liable for to $100. — Permit a telephone utility to waive the requirement that a customer should pay 50 percent of the amount not in dispute before being afforded a hearing on the dispute. Telephone companies must allow customers who have ordered new service or changed service to cancel or reduce their order without a service charge, within 30 days of receiving a bill for such services. The telephone companies also must send an itemized statement to customers within 10 days after completion of an order for new services or a significant change in service, as well as a pamphlet listing general residential services available. Subject to the requirements of the rules, the companies will be allowed to discontinue residential service to a customer for any of the following reasons: — Not paying a delinquent account; — Failing to post a cash security deposit or other guarantee if it is required under the rules; — Interfering with or using telephone service when not authorized to do so; — Failing to meet the terms of a settlement agreement with the company; — Refusing to give the company access to its equipment at reasonable times for inspection, maintenance or replacement; — Using a false name or otherwise misrepresenting identity in order to obtain telephone service; — Using a party line improperly, including interfering with the rights of other party line customers to a fair share of the service; — Violating any other company rules that the PSC has approved, in a way that affects customer safety or the integrity of the telephone equipment.

Major legislation to clear Congress, Ford predicts

Early action of major legislation was predicted this week by Congressman William D. Ford (D-15th District) as the first session of the 95th Congress moved into its second week. Congressman Ford, who has been re-elected Majority Whip for the Michigan Democratic Delegation, already has introduced, or co-sponsored several pieces of legislation. "With a Democratic President cooperating with a Democratic majority in Congress, we should see quick action on our programs to help solve some of the nation's pressing problems," Congressman Ford said. Hearings are expected within a few weeks on one of Congressman Ford's major bills — to refund the Public Works Employment Program by $4 billion in 1977. "With a Democratic President cooperating with a Democratic majority in Congress, we should see quick action on our programs to help solve some of the nation's pressing problems," Congressman Ford said. Hearings are expected within a few weeks on one of Congressman Ford's major bills — to refund the Public Works Employment Program by $4 billion in 1977. The program, approved by Congress last year, pumped some $2 billion into the economy in late December, including more than $60,000,000 for Michigan. Congressman Ford's 15th District received more than $26,000,000 of the Michigan total, the second highest of any district in the state. He pointed out, however, that applications in Wayne County alone totaled nearly $2 billion — equally the national appropriation. Congressman Ford and other members of Congress were not satisfied with the formula used for distributing the money, and have asked the General Accounting Office to audit the procedures.

Romulus High to look into world of careers

Romulus Senior High School students will have an opportunity to look into the future, when they attend a career day program, slated for Feb. 15. "Career-A-Scope: A Look into Your Future" will have speakers from a variety of professions talk about their selected careers. Included will be such areas as horticulture, banking, airline, office, chemistry and mortuary science. Members of the armed forces as well as college representatives will be on hand to talk to students.

VA may pay invalid's home improvements

Residents, who are patients at a Veterans Administration (VA) hospital and who the VA believes with a small improvement in their homes would make it possible to care for them there, may have the agency pick up the tab for that work. The Veterans Omnibus Health Care Act of 1976, enacted Oct. 21, 1976, permits necessary home improvements "to assure continuation of medical treatment or to provide access to the residence or to essential lavatory and sanitary facilities," a VA spokesman explained. Reimbursement, not to exceed $2,500, is authorized for improvements and structural alterations made in connection with medical treatment of veterans with service-connected disabilities. Veterans with nonservice-connected disabilities may be reimbursed for home improvements up to $600, provided VA agreed to and approved the alterations in advance. Complete information on VA medical services can be obtained at any VA office or from service officers of the major veterans organizations.

Glenn adds Salem title to record

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Mending a lineup riddled with injuries, Westland John Glenn managed to retain its Plymouth Salem Wrestling Invitational title over the weekend.

"We were shorthanded," said Glenn Coach Bob Lusk. "We have a couple of wrestlers out with injuries and Hensley (Jerry) is also ill, so we really didn't know what to expect."

Missing from the Glenn lineup are All-Area wrestlers Mark Grabowski and Bill Meyer.

Glenn compiled 183 team points to emerge with the first place trophy, beating out a field which included Dearborn Heights Annapolis (157), Thurston (154), Farmington (133), Plymouth Salem (115½), North Farmington (81), Novi (76½), Plymouth Canton (76), and Allen Park (71).

Livonia Stevenson (65½), Franklin (12) and Southfield (8) rounded out the field.

Glenn wrestlers captured four gold medals and finished second in the 147-pound class.

Nick Paciocco, an All-Area performer of a year ago, stopped Novi's Kevin Mills 13-4 in the duel for the gold at 128-pounds. Nick's teammate Jerry Cook had his problems with Annapolis' Mitch Becker but emerged from the mats with a stunning 4-3 decision and the first place medal in the 157-pound class.

Sports

Glenn also finished first at 169 where Jeff Doyle reached the finals and clashed with a stubborn Dean Schultz from Farmington. When the two strolled off the mats, Doyle had a close 2-1 victory.

Jim Meyer provided the Westlanders with their final gold, taking it away from 180-pounder Dave Kapaun, of Thurston, 3-0. The two could meet in league competition both are in the Northwest Suburban.

Rich Eisiminger came within three points of winning the 147-pound class duel, but the Rocket grappler surrendered the gold to Farmington's Jim Simmons who was awarded an 8-6 decision in the finals.

Glenn, which has won four of the five tournaments it has entered this year, will shoot for the prestigious Detroit Catholic Central Invitational crown this weekend.

In the field at DCC is Temperance Bedford, the defending Class A state champ. It will be the first look at the state champs by area teams.

Eager to do battle at Catholic Central is Wayne Memorial, also in the 12-team field. DCC Coach Mike Rodriguez has invited Dearborn Heights Annapolis, Bay City Western, Flint Northwestern, Hazel Park, Swartz Creek, Bedford, Warren Lincoln, West Bloomfield, Ypsilanti along with Wayne and John Glenn to this year's competition.

There is an admission charge for both the preliminary and final matches.

Couch scores 30 points as Wayne wins, 64-61

By TOM MOORADIAN

Lincoln Park learned the hard way that Wayne may be down but it isn't out of the Great Lakes 8 Conference basketball title chase.

Coach Bill Hawley's Zebras snapped a four-game losing streak to nip the Railsplitters 64-61 Friday night and bring their record to 2-3 in the league.

The loss ousted Lincoln Park from atop of the conference standings where Wyandotte and Taylor Center share first place.

Tim Couch, who hit five of seven shots from the field in the second period, turned in his best performance of the season as he accounted for 30 of Wayne's points. It was also a career high for the 5-8 senior guard.

"It was one of the finest performances by any member of our team," said Bill Hawley, Wayne coach. "Tim kept us in the game in the second period and in the fourth provided us with a key assist and 10 of the team's 14 points."

The game was deadlocked at 17-all after the first eight minutes, but Wayne took a slim 34-33 edge into the locker-room at halftime.

The Zebras outscored their visitors 19-17 to go ahead by three, 53-50 for three period and held the Parkers off in the last three minutes after the lead exchanged hands four times.

The nail-biting final period got off to a cold start for the winners who missed their first three shots. Lincoln Park converted two free throws and Wayne replied with a pair of charities by Couch who gave the Zebras a brief 58-57 lead with a jumper that found the mark.

Lincoln Park scored to make it 59-58, then Couch managed to slip the ball to Pat Bledsoe on a drive and the senior forward sank it, making it 60-59.

Lincoln Park responded again with a layup but Bill Crews was later fouled as he scrambled to nail down a rebound and he sank both ends of a one-and-one.

With eight seconds left, Lincoln Park fouled again and Wayne had an opportunity to clinch the game but failed. The Parkers got off the last shot and missed, Mike Plungis hauling in the rebound for the Zebras. He was deliberately fouled and he sank the final two free throws.

Crews finished with 15 points, the only other Wayne player in two figures.

Wayne looked good at the line where it cashed in on 16 of 20 free throws as compared to 15 of 23 for the Parkers. The Zebras hit 24 of 69 from the field (35 percent) and the losers capitalized on 23 of 42 shots for 55 percent.

After meeting Riverview Tuesday night, Wayne returns home to take on Taylor Truman.

Faces in the crowd

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Bill Johnson gives me "guilt feelings."

One of many fans at Friday night's Cherry Hill and Crestwood basketball games, Johnson, a former All-Area track and cross country star from Cherry Hill, reminds me how things used to be in these parts — daily deadlines, breaking news and up to the minute stories about all sports.

Johnson, like many of his peers, helped me write the lines that filled these pages. He was a witness to the rise, fall and demise of a daily newspaper.

"I really enjoyed reading the paper," Johnson said. "And I think the folks around here did, too. It's too bad we still don't have a daily."

Johnson's sentiments were echoed by many of the faces in the crowd — Joe LaScola, former head football coach, Jim Dollway, athletic director at Cherry Hill, and Mrs. Johnson, Bill's mother.

Johnson's outstanding athletic career helped him obtain a scholarship to Hillsdale College where he has teamed with another former all-area runner, John Yurchis, of Garden City East fame.

"Did you know that John's sister is the college's SID?", Johnson asked. (SID is the abbreviation for sports information director.) A gal SID — what will they think of next?

Speaking of girls — and women — George Sommerville, head basketball coach for the girls' team at John Glenn would like to see more space allotted in newspapers to girls sports and athletics.

"Women's sports are really coming along," Sommerville says. "We have track, volleyball, swimming, softball—you name it—girls are playing it nowadays."

"And newspapers should give them recognition," Sommerville is quick to point out.

Sommerville, an Eastern Michigan University graduate who has put in his time coaching on the junior high school level, feels his cagers will do all right next year. They finished 6-13 last season. His lineup included Nancy Jimenez, Tina Lilla, Debbie Eberley, Marilyn Natzke and a sophomore, Mary Chilo, who is being touted as a future "super star".

Mary's a 5-8 pivotman...ah, pivotperson who scored 130 points last season.

"If newspapers would be more receptive to girls and women's sports, I'm sure it would help their circulation," Sommerville added.

You won't get an argument from these corners.

And here's our first gem of the year...

Dear Mr. Mooradian;

I am a senior at John Glenn High School and I have a few words to say to you about some of the coverage our ROCKETS have been getting.

My parents subscribe to your paper and contribute to the check which you take home every payday so I think that they deserve to get something in the news that is of your 100 percent effort. Maybe this is of no fault of yours but whoever is making all of these mistakes, I think that they had better take a long long vacation.

These mistakes that I am speaking of are all the errors I see printed in your paper every week. Spelling errors, lines repeated, wrong names, etc. I mean HEY! John Glenn gets much less coverage than our non-league rival Wayne Memorial as it is and I know that when we do, the people involved are really disappointed that their name is spelt wrong. If I were to see my own name in the paper, I would much rather see it spelt right and all the facts be correct or not see it at all. What is the use?

One such incident was today's paper. I was really surprised to read about Cherry Hill and Crestwood under the heading, Franklin vs. Glenn, and to see that one of our starting line-up was completely left out of your team line up. I have been noticing these type of errors and others more important pretty often and I don't even notice those in articles of other schools because I don't know their participants as I would my own.

This has been happening in such things as school musicals too and I am really disappointed that a paper such as the Eagle which could be so much more than it is has to be brought down with simple things like this that add up.

Thank You For your time. I know that this is not your favorite type of FAN mail but it has been bothering me for quite sometime and I just thought that I'd say my say. Even as incompletely as this.

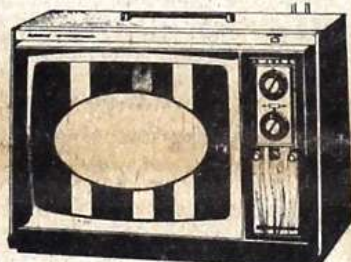

Sincerely,
Cyndi Grajek

Duel on ice

The puck always draws attention from hockey players and in this case the players are from the Westland Hockey Association's Pee Wee team and their counter-parts from across the border, Mt. Brydges, Ontario.

The WHA came out on the shortend of a 5-3 decision but the weekend wasn't a total loss for the local skaters who managed to win four and tie two games with the visiting Canadians.

Glenn perfect in Northwest

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

The anticipated basketball showdown between Westland John Glenn, the undefeated Northwest Suburban leader, and Livonia Franklin, the defending champ ended in favor of the Westlanders.

Glenn brought the curtains down on the first round of play with a stunning 67-43 victory over the Patriots who are hobbling with injuries.

But, though Glenn may have won the battle, the war isn't over, conceded John Glenn Coach Gordie Davis.

"We still have a long way to go," Davis said after the Rockets posted their fourth league win in as many starts. "Three of our four league games are on the road in the next round, so we're going to have to be ready to play."

Franklin Coach Bob Visser felt that if he could get his team healthy the Patriots could still cause some damage.

"Each week its something or someone else that hurts us," Visser said. "When you lose a starter you have to make adjustments all over again.

"But, I sincerely feel that the title race isn't over yet. That second round is going to very interesting because most of the games the first time around were very close," Visser said.

Franklin grabbed a quick 6-2 lead over the host before Glenn came back on the strength of sophomore guard Daran Armstrong, Pat McBride and Dan Diadiun's baskets.

The Westlanders went ahead 12-18 after eight minutes and held the lead the rest of the way. They outscored their visitors 19-12 in the second period to go up 31-20 at half, then mopped up with 19-10 and 17-13 final periods.

Armstrong, a diminutive, elusive guard, pumped in eight field goals and two free throws for a game high 18 points. Diadiun settled for 13 while McBride finished with seven baskets for 14 points.

John Zannis was the only Franklin player to reach double figures. He collected 10 points.

Glenn will take a 10-2 record to Bloomfield Hills Lahser Friday night - a nonleague encounter, while Franklin finishes the first round of league action Friday at Garden City East. It will need that win in order to stay in the title race.

Belleville woos conference title

Tigers edge Dearborn, 25-24

Gerald Malecek may just accomplish what his predecessors only dreamed of — winning a Suburban 8 Conference wrestling championship.

Malecek's Tigers took a big step toward that goal last week by edging a hard-nosed Dearborn contingent 25-24 to remain undefeated in the conference.

"We still have a long way to go," Malecek commented, "But I feel we're on the right track."

Bob Cook provided Belleville with the key victory as the 193-pound senior pinned Robert Marx in 5:27 to put the Tigers ahead. Cook was trailing in the third period and came up with the fall that decided the meet.

Dearborn's Paul Dido had to pin Belleville's heavyweight Tom Rowe in order to reserve the decision, but Rowe managed to keep off his back though he lost a 12-2 decision.

Belleville gave Westland John Glenn a scare before losing a thriller 25-21.

The Tigers also competed in the annual River Rat Tournament, hosted by Ann Arbor Huron, and finished third in a field of eight teams. Detroit Catholic Central captured team honors with 172 points, while Monroe was second with 172 and Belleville piled up 137 points.

Belleville was represented in the winner's circle by Mark Ford (119), Carl Winekoff (132) and Bob Cook (191), while the Tigers were runners-up with Scott Harsch (112) and Stan Johnson (145).

Other Belleville medalists included Joe Justin, third at 105; Rick Briggs, fourth at 178; Brent Verrot, fourth at 138. "I felt we wrestled extremely well against some outstanding competition," Malecek said. "The entire team did some good things."

Warmwater Fish Regulations

The Natural Resources Commission, at its meeting on August 15, 1975, under authority of Act 230, P.A. 1925, as amended, amended the August 11, 1972, order regarding warmwater fish regulations to read as follows effective January 1, 1976. It shall be unlawful to take the following named species except during the open seasons and daily limits prescribed (statewide regulations apply unless otherwise restricted):

Statewide open seasons on all waters not otherwise closed to fishing shall be from the Saturday preceding Memorial Day through December 31, on largemouth and smallmouth bass; May 15 through February on walleye, sauger, northern pike, and muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge). The daily catch limit shall be 5 singly or in combination for largemouth and small mouth bass, walleye, sauger, and northern pike; 1 for muskellunge (including tiger muskellunge).

The above regulations apply except that walleye and sauger may be taken at any time from the Detroit and St. Clair rivers, Lake St. Clair, and Lake Erie; and that muskellunge in Lake St. Clair, St. Clair and Detroit rivers may be taken only from the first Saturday in June through December 15 of each year.

Meriweather gets wish

Romulus routs Willow Run

Jesse Meriweather asked for and received a victory over Willow Run.

The Romulus head cage coach "wanted this one" because the Willow Run Flyers were ranked among the top 10 teams in the Metro-West while his team was over-looked.

"I feel Willow Run has a fine team," Meriweather commented after the Eagles won a 69-59 decision, "but we're not bad, either. Our kids played an exceptional game against them."

Willow Run took a 34-31 halftime lead after the two teams were deadlocked at 16-all for the first eight minutes of the duel. Then Romulus, getting 13 points from senior guard Allen Lewis, broke it open in the third period.

The Eagles held the Flyers to 12 points while they got 22 in that pivotal third quarter.

"I felt that Willow Run made an error trying to play us one-on-one," Meriweather pointed out. "They had to chase us most of the fourth period."

Lewis and Wendell Buckley, also a senior guard, split 46 of their team's 69 points. Lewis hit on seven from the field and made nine free throws for his 23 while Buckley canned eight field goals and seven charities.

Darnell Morris chipped in 14 to the winner's cause.

Romulus also enjoyed a 26 of 29 effort from the free throw line where the Flyers made only 7 of 14.

The victory pulled Romulus over the .500 mark. They're 6-5 on the season.

Meriweather is looking for a team to play this week. The Eagles, through a mix-up in their schedule, are without a game Friday night.

"If there is an area team that isn't going to play Friday, I'd appreciate hearing from them," Meriweather said.

Beats Crestwood, 91-76

Cherry Hill in title chase

Cherry Hill built up its title stock in the Tri-River Conference Friday night by turning back a determined Dearborn Heights Crestwood quintet 91-76.

Coach Dick McNally's Spartans entered the week sharing first place with Taylor Kennedy and Schafer. All are 4-1 on the league season.

"Obviously I was glad to beat them, (Crestwood)," McNally said, "however, I didn't feel we played the brand of ball we have been playing lately.

"We had too many turnovers and played in spurts," he added.

Tied at 18-all after the first eight minutes, Cherry Hill pulled away by as much as nine points in the second period before the rallying Crestwood cagers came back to within three, 41-38, at halftime.

Cherry Hill's sophomore center Floyd Simmons, who played an excellent game at both ends of the court, scored 12 of his team high 22 points in the second half to help the Spartans increase their advantage to 61-51 after three periods.

Crestwood refused to quit and sharpshooting senior guard Greg Reid who scored 28 points, 12 at the free throw line, pulled the Chargers within four points, 74-70, late in the final period before baskets by Simmons, Mark Lipinski, Jim Steudle and Mark Buck erased the threat.

Simmons was joined by Keith Steward, Lipinski and Gunn in the double figure scoring column. Steward added 14 points, Lipinski tossed in 13 while Gunn counted 12.

Cherry Hill made 11 of 20 from the free throw line as compared to Crestwood's outstanding effort of 24 of 26 at the line.

"We're definitely going to make a run for the title now," said McNally. "And I feel the schedule for the second half favors us. We have Kennedy and Schafer here the next time around."

The Spartans lost a cliffhanger, 63-62, to Taylor Center last Tuesday. Taylor, the co-leader in the Great Lakes 8 Conference, blew a nine point halftime lead.

Trailing 33-24 at halftime, the Spartans outscored the Rams 20-13 in the third period and 18-17 in the finale.

Simmons and Steward split 36 points between them and Lipinski and 14.

Taylor got 19 points from Mike Shafalik and 17 from Tyrone Jordan.

Tigers lose to Plymouth Salem; Rally past Bentley

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

If Belleville's second encounter next month with undefeated Plymouth Salem's basketball team is anything like the first, better purchase your tickets now, folks. Salem drew first blood last Tuesday by winning a close 73-65 decision from Coach Tom Niemi's Tigers, and the Belleville skipper "is looking forward to seeing them at Belleville."

"I felt we played well enough to win," Niemi said. "We outrebounded them and outscored them from the floor. Salem won the game at the free throw line."

Salem sank 21 of 32 free throws as compared to Belleville's 9 to 12 night. Belleville's defense handled Salem's two key performers, Rich Hewlett, a highly-touted sophomore guard, and Doug Agnew, with little difficulty, but Tom Ellinghausen and Chris Debear took command. Ellinghausen, younger brother of former all-stater Jim, who is presently starting for Ohio State, pumped in six field goals and made 11 free throws for a team high 23 points. Debear chipped in 19 points, eight from the field and three charities.

Belleville received an outstanding performance from Cornell Grantham and Kelvin Patterson who combined for 44 of the team's 65 points. Grantham scored a career high 28 points - 13 field goals and two from the foul line and Patterson tossed in 16 during the nip-and-tuck affair.

The Rocks took a slim 15-14 first period lead but Belleville tied it up 31-all at halftime. The defending champs went on to outscore their visitors 19-16 and 23-18 for the final two periods.

Roy Rutherford and Patterson led Belleville's assault on the boards. Each had 10 caroms, while the Tigers outscored their rivals 28-26 from the floor.

The loss cut a three-game Belleville winning streak and boosted Salem's record to 10-0 on the year.

Belleville bounced back to nip Livonia Bentley, 55-53, as Rutherford sank both ends of a one-and-one to break a 53-all deadlock with 10 seconds remaining in the game.

Bentley failed to get the final shot off when Ron Johnson picked off the inbound pass for the Tigers.

Close all the way, Belleville worked its way to a 17-14 first period with guard Kevin Barnes scoring eight of his 18 points in that quarter.

Bentley, which fielded a front line consisting of 6-8 West German exchange student Flo Homm, 6-7 Ed Snow, and 6-5 Craig Fuelling, came back to outscore their hosts 17-13 in the second period and take a narrow 31-30 lead at intermission.

Belleville tied it up at the end of three, 43-all, then outscored the Bulldogs 12-10 in the final eight minutes.

"Everyone worked hard in this game," Niemi said. "We controlled (Continued on Page B-4)

AUTO FACTS

By Chester Kosin

The positioning of flares depends on the location of your disabled car. On an expressway with a one-way flow of traffic, put one flare next to your car toward the rear, another about 200 feet behind your car, and a third an additional 300 feet back. Place the flares on the shoulder, but also close to the road surface if at all possible. If you cannot get your car onto the shoulder—or if there is none—stick the flares into cracks between slabs of concrete pavement or simply lay them on the road at the recommended intervals.

Make sure you have the proper emergency equipment in your car at all times! At KOSIN'S AUTO PARTS, 26831 Michigan, Inkster, we carry a full line of quality parts and accessories for all foreign and domestic cars. Our friendly staff gives fast, expert counter service and is always happy to help you select the proper parts for your particular car. We also offer complete machine shop repair service. Call us at 563-3894. We are open daily from 8 a.m. until 8 p.m., and on Saturdays until 5 p.m. Bank Americard and Master Charge are honored.

AUTO TIP:

A flashlight with a red flasher can provide many on-the-road services, and is an indispensable item for your car kit.

Edsel slashes Tiger win swim streak at 8

Despite an excellent individual performance by Howard Renton, Belleville's eight meet swim winning streak ended last Thursday at the hands of Edsel Ford.

Coach Sam Vicchy's Tigers wound up on the shortend of a 52-31 decision in the Suburban 8 Conference opener for both schools.

"I'm disappointed," said Vicchy. "Though the meet was a lot closer than the score would indicate — it seems that all the close events Edsel just barely nipped us out and we placed second — we didn't get the job done."

The Tigers leap from the proverbial frying pan into the fire as they return to Dearborn to take on Dearborn High, the defending Class A state champ, Thursday night.

"Dearborn is always tough and this year's team is no exception," Vicchy stressed. "We're going to have our hands full."

Renton took one of three Belleville first places and also finished second in the 200-yard freestyle. The Belleville senior turned in the winning time of 5:03.2 in the 500-yard freestyle. Earlier his 1:51.7 was second to O'Hagen's 1:49.7 for the 200-yard freestyle.

Belleville also took the 100-yard backstroke thanks to Ron Curtis who turned up with an 58.0 seconds effort. Diver Ray Paponetti, an All-Area performer a year ago and maintaining Belleville's tradition of producing outstanding diver, compiled 271 points to win the event.

Romulus matmen take sudden spill

Just when everything appeared to be falling into place for Romulus Coach Vern Logan and his wrestlers, enter Flat Rock and the proverbial "monkey wrench."

Flat Rock snatched a 33-29 victory from the Eagles and the disappointing loss has Logan wondering about the true identity of his wrestlers.

"I felt we were making headway," Logan said. "But, we didn't perform well against Flat Rock and I really don't have the reasons."

"I'm hoping we can rebound the next trip out."

Romulus isn't due on the mats until Tuesday when they clash with Lutheran West. They faced neighborhood rival, Belleville, last night.

Romulus earned four medals over the weekend at the Ann Arbor Huron "River Rat" tournament where they finished sixth in a field of eight.

Rick Morrison, given All-Area consideration last year, finished with a silver medal as he lost in the finals of the 138-pound class to Ron Rashid of Detroit Catholic Central, 3-0.

Dennis Bergmooser placed third at 100, beating Owosso's Gary Clark 5-2 while Derrick Humphrey (193) and Wallace Brown (155) placed fourth.

Westland John Glenn had no problems with the Eagles as Bob Lusk's Rockets won a convincing 46-12 victory over their non-league rivals.

Spartans dunk Riverside, 113-53

Riverside, which has been a thorn in Cherry Hill's side for the past three years, didn't have the swimming power to stop Coach Jerry Pawloski's title-bound Spartans in their duel in the Tri-River Conference last week.

Cherry Hill buried their arch-rivals 113-53 and served noticed to the Dearborn Heights swimmers that it has no intentions of sharing the title this year.

Fallen skater

Though he crashed to the ice, this Westland Hockey Association Pee Wee isn't giving up hope as he tries to get the puck away from a Mt. Brydges, Ont., skater. Westland lost this international Pee Wee Hockey matchup 5-3, one of a score of games between amateur girl and boys hockey teams. The trip by the Canadians to Westland was in return for the hospitality shown Westland Hockey Association teams that visited and played against their counter-parts in London, Ont., last December.

Wayne hurdles title obstacle

Wayne Memorial took a giant step toward replacing Wyandotte on the Great Lakes 8 Conference swim throne by whipping perennial title threat Fordson from its path 91-81.

"This is a key victory in our bid for a conference championship," said Jim McPartlin, Wayne High coach. "But, we still have a long way to go. There's a lot of other teams that would like to take this title this year."

Wayne captured seven out of a possible 11 first places against the Tractors who received a double victory from their stellar performer Jim Sherk.

Wayne retaliated with more depth and a record-setting performance from Mike Kuhn won the 200-yard freestyle event in 1:54.8, leading teammate Rick Matheny to the wire.

Wayne also claimed a first in the 50-yard freestyle with Joe Miles covering the distance in 24.4; the diving with Chuck Smallman (208.95) and the 100-yard butterfly, with Mike Balwinski (1:09.0).

McPartlin's swimmers capped the evening with a victory in the 400-yard freestyle relay with Matheny,

Wayne wrestlers whip Wyandotte

Wayne Memorial, the only wrestling champ the Great Lakes 8 Conference has ever known, may have its problems this year but Coach Don Heney's grapplers didn't display any against Wyandotte.

Wayne trampled Wyandotte 40-24, despite forfeiting both the 100-pound and 114-pound classes to the Bruins.

The victory padded Wayne's conference record to 3-1 on the season. Monroe was the first team ever to beat Wayne in the Great Lakes.

Wayne will head for Detroit Catholic Central over the weekend in quest of its third major invitational title this season.

CONSIDERING CADILLAC?

Here are 6 reasons why you should.

1. At 55 mph you might as well be comfortable, as it's going to take you longer to get there.
2. At 55 mph the mileage difference between a Cadillac and any 8 cylinder car is of little significance.
3. Statistics indicated the probability of being injured in a small car is greater than being injured in a big car. Why not give your family and yourself this additional protection?
4. Luxury and standard size cars are offered at unprecedented prices. This is the time to buy because when the over-reaction subsidies, prices could return substantially.
5. People are not selling big houses, they're just lowering thermostats. Why not stay in a comfortable safe car and use it sensibly?
6. At 55 mph virtually any late model Cadillac on our lot will go to Illinois or Nebraska and back without needing additional gas. New Cadillacs have been selling at a record pace, we therefore, have an excellent selection of late model Cadillacs. See us today!

INTRODUCING THE NEW EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM.
It can provide up to $8100 for an education.

WHAT IS THE BASIC IDEA OF THE NEW EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM?
Today's Army is dedicated to providing young people every possible opportunity, both in the service and after. Under the new Educational Assistance Program, a young man or woman looking ahead to college or vocational-technical school can accumulate a remarkable "nest-egg". The individual can elect to save from $50 to $75 a month during active Army service for an educational future—and the contribution will be matched two dollars for every one. This means a young man or woman saving the maximum can come out of the Army with as much as $8100 in an educational fund.

THE PROPER SELECTION OF FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Knowing how to select fresh fruits and vegetables of "good quality" is very important. Here are some general pointers to always keep in mind.

1. CHECK FOR FRESHNESS - buy only fruits and vegetables that "look fresh" and are reasonably unblemished. Avoid produce that is wilted, wrinkled, drooping, insect-damaged or dirty.
2. NOTE THE COLOR - select items of "characteristic color." Color is often a good guide to quality. For example, the deeper the yellow, as in carrots and winter squash, or the darker the green, as in kale or spinach, the better the content of vitamin A.
3. NOTE THE SHAPE - mis-shapen fruits and vegetables usually are inferior in texture and taste and have a good deal of waste. They are also more difficult to prepare.
4. NOTE THE SIZE - medium sizes are generally preferred for most purposes. Items which are extremely large or extremely small may have undesirable points. For example, very large fruits may be coarse and over-mature. Extremely small ones may be immature and will have too much waste.

5. CHECK THE DEGREE OF MATURITY - the proper maturity of a fruit or vegetable is the state at which it is judged to be right for harvesting in order to bring it to you, the consumer, in the best possible condition. Such maturity varies. All leafy vegetables must be immature. If they carry seed-bearing parts, they are too mature and will be tough.

6. NOTE RIPENESS - ripeness is different from maturity. For many products, "ripeness" is undesirable; for example, a ripe cucumber would have hard seeds, poor flavor and be inedible.

And finally, USE YOUR GOOD JUDGEMENT!

NOTE: Fresh fruits and vegetables should be bought for use within a short time. Some fruits must be held to soften and ripen. HOWEVER, LONG STORAGE AT HOME IS NOT PRACTICAL.
